Patriotism, Gratitude, Etc. They Will Not Pay, But! 100,000 Porto Ricans. The Democrats' Turn.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

GOVERNMENT, patriotism, gratitude and business methods, plus our national idea of justice, are all mixed up in this.

The Rock Island Railroad owes about nine million dollars to banks, due this summer. The Rock Island also needs money for its own purposes and asks the government Reconstruction Finance Corporation for a loan of ten millions. The corporation says:

"All right, if you pay off half what you owe the banks now."

The Rock Island will get its ten millions FROM THE PUBLIC and the banks will get half their loans.

MANY MEN sent to war some years ago, that need money, owed, would like to pay their debts, and have something left for their own use. But there is no Reconstruction Finance Corporation for veterans. They are told:

"You should be ashamed to exploit your country. Your children are in need? What of it. DON'T EXPLOIT YOUR COUNTRY."

A railroad that owes to banks and needs money for itself should have some way of getting the money, if it can be arranged. Prosperity of railroads and banks is essential to national prosperity.

But many wives and children of veterans must wish that their husband and father had been a bank or a railroad, instead of being only an American soldier.

IT IS SAID the railroads will repay these loans. Perhaps so, perhaps not, with some probability on the NOT. The veterans would surely repay, for the money they ask for now is coming to them from the government as a bonus in a short time, anyhow, and the government could not possibly lose its money.

Between a man needing a few hundred dollars, and a corporation needing many millions of dollars, the difference is great.

AGAIN EUROPEAN papers emphasize the fact that war debt problems are to be solved, simply, by not paying anything to the United States. French papers say that Europe now presents "a united front to the United Sates," and this country must yield as gracefully as possible.

If the gentlemen welch, of course, they will welch. But the debts will be kept alive, in our memory at least. And when Europe, in its next war, which will come when Russia, Germany and Italy feel strong enough, arranges a new series of "united fronts" of a different sort, we shall be observers, not shipping any men or any billions.

And, as for the debts, there are more ways than one of collecting from a dishonest debtor.

OUR POPULATION is changing without our knowing it. We exclude Asiatic immigration, but Asiatic Filipinos come in tens of thousands, because their islands are "American soil."

For the same reason Porto Ricans come in great numbers, good workers, like the Filipinos, doubtless, but a new element in our population. There are one hundred thousand Porto Ricans now in New York City alone, tens of thousands more coming in.

A difficult problem, especially in these unemployment days.

DEMOCRATS ARE in Chicago for their turn, with bands, keynotes and demonstrations. Questions of importance are three.

What will Democrats invent to steal wet votes from the Republican wet plank?

Will Gov. Roosevelt, with nearly six hundred votes to start, almost grasping the reins of the bandwagon, prove too strong an attraction for unattached delegates to resist?

Will former Gov. Al Smith begin the proceedings with an attack on Gov. Roosevelt, delivered by Smith in person, that will change the outlook?

MANY EDITORS and wets underestimate the importance of the Republican wet plank. It is not a mere evasion.

IT CONFESSES THAT PROHIBITION IS A FAILURE and that is a great deal to confess.

It says also that the Constitution must be changed in a constitutional manner, and no one denies that.

It insists on keeping the fine things that prohibition has brought, but that nonsense is a mere sop to Anti-Saloon Leaguers.

The Republican party has gone wet, and that is the biggest news since the country changed to a bootleg liquor basis.

EDWARD ROCHE HARDY, JR., entered Columbia University at twelve years of age, graduated at sixteen, learned seventeen languages as a boy, knows almost everything that you can learn by heart, and now, at twenty-four, is "elevated to the Protestant Episcopal priesthood in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine."

The seventeen languages are not as useful to Dr. Hardy as they would have been when the gift of tongues was so important. He teaches Greek in the General Theological Seminary, and that must be a satisfaction. Knowledge, in itself, is a delight.

Crowds Roar Welcome to Amelia

TICKER TAPE SHOWERED ON FLIER

Thousands Line Broadway From Battery to City Hall; Planes, Blimp Soar Above

International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Confetti and sunlight caught in her tousled curls, and ticker tape wound about her slim, boyish figure, as Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam returned to America today from her courageous achievement, the first solo flight made by a woman across the Atlantic.

Crowds along lower Broadway roared their appreciation when the big welcome parade passed. Mrs. Putnam, covered with torn paper, responded with a smile like that Lindbergh once wore.

BOARDS CITY BOAT

With her husband, George Palmer Putnam, Mrs. Putnam climbed down from the Ile de France to the official reception boat awaiting her in the lower bay. The welcome committee was selected from the country's famous fliers, among them Bernt Balchen, who coached Mrs. Putnam for the ocean flight.

Pointing north in "V" formation above the harbor landing, 15 airplanes followed the triumphal march up from the Battery to the aldermanic chamber, shifting to "company front" form above the street parade.

Along with the military and commercial airplane escort, the semi-rigid airship Resolute, named by Mrs. Putnam before her famous ocean trip, joined the aerial formation. Three members of the Society of Women Geographers, Mrs. Delia A. Keley, Blair Niles and Marjorie Trumbull were aboard the blimp and dropped a citation to notify Mrs. Putnam that she has been given the society's first medal.

AMELIA NERVOUS

As 1,000 uniformed police kept back the crowds that would have leaped at the "Lady Lindy" to touch her golden hair and grasp the slender hand that held controls above the Atlantic, she nervously watched the planes dip and dive, exclaiming:

"Oh, they—they make me nervous."

Up the city's path of glory to the City Hall the procession drew, with Mayor James J. Walker extending the municipal greetings.

Then the slim girl who dropped quietly down upon a surprised Irish farmer heard how America feels about courage such as hers

"Bravo, Amelia" . . . "What-a-girl, Amelia" . . .

Then the procession went to Federal Hall at Bryant Park where the woman flier was given the Cross of Honor of the United States Flag Association.

Following this ceremony Mrs. Putnam was guest of honor at a luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria to mark the opening of the annual convention of the Advertising Federation of America.

Mrs. Putnam will fly to Washington tomorrow morning to be received at the White House by President Hoover and to receive from him the National Geographic Society gold medal tomorrow night.

CALLES PAUSES IN PITTSBURGH

Removal of radio equipment from the top of the special car of Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, former president of Mexico, here, caused the Mexican statesman and his sick wife to spend some time in Pittsburgh. Today they are in New York, where Mrs. Calles may undergo an operation. The radio equipment, which would not clear tunnels, was removed here yesterday.

Mrs. Calles, seriously ill, will be treated in a New York hospital by Dr. J. J. Eller, son-in-law of Gen. Calles. Her condition, in Pittsburgh last night, was said to have improved slightly.

Mrs. Calles is suffering from intercranial pressure and has been ill a month.

While in Pittsburgh, Gen. Calles refused all interviewers. On staying beside his wife. On the train he received L. P. Abreu, Mexican Consul in Pittsburgh and Eduardo Malvido, assistant to the Consul, and nephew of Gen. Calles' half-brother.

AUTOIST BLOCKS P. R. R. TRAIN

A motorist's attempt to make a short cut from the Washington boulevard to the new Allegheny River boulevard by driving half a mile along the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks near the Brilliant pumping station blocked a city-bound passenger train for 20 minutes early this afternoon.

The driver, John Reed, 35, 543 Princeton boulevard, Wilkinsburg, was taken to the office of a city physician to determine whether he had been drinking, after his machine stalled on the tracks, necessitating a call for a wrecking train.

Two passengers in his machine, Violet Davis, 31, of 7144 Kedron street, Homewood, and John Marshall, Negro, 36, of 339 Renfrew street, were arrested on charges of being drunk.

DIVORCED WIFE BACKS ALIBI OF BLEDSOE

Refutes Testimony Given At Death Trial by Woman Who Broke Up Her Home

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 20.—The divorced wife of former County Detective R. C. Bledsoe today refuted the testimony of Elsie Ritenour, his former sweetheart—the woman who caused the divorce—in the Donohoe murder case.

Mrs. Olive Bledsoe, of Pittsburgh, under direct examination told the jury hearing the trial of Bledsoe and Cosmo Stengoni, for the three-year-old racket murder of Constable Jack Donohoe, that her husband was home in bed when the murder occurred, and withstood the efforts of District Attorney W. K. Newell to shake her story.

WOMAN'S TESTIMONY

Mrs. Ritenour testified previously that Bledsoe had framed an alibi story and that he had left her home in time to participate in the crime. Bledsoe contended he left her at 1:30 and reached home a short time later, the time fixed by Mrs. Bledsoe in her testimony.

Efforts of the District Attorney to force the witness to admit that her testimony today was different from what she had told state police a few weeks ago in Pittsburgh failed.

Mrs. Bledsoe testified that her ex-husband came to his Connellsville home at 1:40 a. m. on the morning of the murder, washed and wen to bed, and remained there until between 8 and 9 o'clock.

NEWS FROM NEIGHBOR

The first knowledge of the murder, she continued, was from a neighbor, Charles Means. She was sweeping the front porch, she said, when Means called across and asked if they had heard what had happened.

Means shouted, she said:

"'Donohoe has been killed.'

"'How did it happen?' my husband asked.

"'They say he was killed while raiding.'"

She said her husband replied:

"'That is impossible, Donohoe never raided anybody.'"

The witness said her husband verified the report by telephone, finished dressing and apparently

Indiana Standard Advances Gasoline

TAX BOOSTING COSTS STARTS TOMORROW

Autos, Radios, Many Other Articles in List Covered By New Government Levy

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP.)—Today is the last tax-free day for matches, automobiles, candy, radios, face powder, yachts and all the tremendous list of articles brought into the federal government's revenue raising net by the new, emergency tax law. The law will operate through June 30, 1934.

After tonight the movies (except those where you get in for 40 cents or less) will cost more; so will telegrams and long distance calls, while bank checks will cost two cents apiece.

Certain exemptions to the amusement tax are made in favor of religious, educational or charitable organizations, except at wrestling, prize fighting, boxing or sparring matches, or other pugilistic exhibitions. The regulations provide no exemption for college athletic games or for those operated by the government.

Dues and initiation fees to any social, athletic or sporing club or organization are taxable at the rate of 10 per cent if the dues of an active resident annual member are in excess of $25 per year, and if initiation fees amount to more than $10.

Exempted from the provisions are amounts paid to a fraternal society, order or association, operating under the lodge system.

Increased postage which is expect to help slash the Postoffice Department's deficit are not to go into effect until next month.

Banks Wait Instructions On U. S. Tax on Checks

Local banks today were awaiting instructions from Washington as to methods for collecting the tax of two cents on checks, effective tomorrow.

That each bank, probably, will adopt a system best applicable to its volume of business was cited by Manager Carl Fogel, of the Pittsburgh Clearing House Association. Theproposal to issue a form of receipt rather than counter check, for depositors withdrawing personally at the bank, which would avoid the necessity of collecting a tax, also awaited a ruling.

The tax applicable to bills for electric energy will not apply to the discounts allowed on electric bills. In announcing this ruling today, officials of the Duquesne Light Company stated where the discount period has expired, the 3 per cent tax will be applied to the entire bill. The electric current tax will be collected by the utility company, adding the amount to the regular monthly bill.

Indiana Bank Uses Plan to Beat Tax

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP.)—A very minor portion of the new stamp taxes—that expected from counter checks—will be lost to the government if all banking institutions in the country follow the lead of a Kokomo (Ind.) bank, which, it is reported, has issued "receipts" to be used in lieu of counter checks.

The legal division of the Treasury held that "if this paper is in the form of a mere receipt it is not taxable."

HUTTON BALM TRIAL OPENS

LOS ANGELES, June 20.—(AP.)—Investigations, threats and counter-threats having marked the warming-up stages of the trial, Dave Hutton, choir singer-husband of Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, the evangelist, was called into court today to defend himself in a $200,000 breach of promise action, brought by Myrtle Joan St. Pierre, a nurse.

The evangelist, who announced she "intends to stick by Dave through thick and thin," will be unable to attend the court sessions. She is in a sanitarium with an illness she developed during a recent tour of Central America. So serious is her illness regarded, plans are to keep all details of the trial from her.

With the filing of the suit, the evangelist charged her husband was being "victimized because he married a person of prominence." An investigation was made by the district attorney's office, but no action was taken. Then, charges were made by Miss St. Pierre that she had been threatened with dire consequences if she went through with the action.

Progressives Start Big Drive as Welfare Chiefs Plead for Aid to Needy

Relief for the nation's needy millions occupied the economic spotlight in Washington, Harrisburg and Pittsburgh today

In the National Capitol, Senate Progressives set forth on a concerted drive for a $5,500,000,000 program of public works to spur the wheels of industry.

In Harrisburg, legislators considered plans to supply additional relief funds by installing new economies in government.

In Pittsburgh, 100 relief workers from seven states urged not only city, county and state aid, but also federal support for local community chests.

Mrs. Helen G. Tyson, deputy commissioner of the State Department of Welfare, contended that the $10,000,000 granted Pennsylvania's unemployed under the Talbot bill did not add a single new dollar to the relief situation.

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Senate Progressives today launched a concerted drive for a $5,500,000,000 program of public works financed by a federal bond issue as leaders of 20 nationally known organizations pictured grim distress throughout the country in appeals for speedy unemployment relief by Congress.

Meanwhile, alarmed at the gathering demands, administration forces halted their open opposition to all forms of relief and joined in support of the $2,000,000,0000 program in the Wagner bill.

PROGRESSIVES' DEMAND

The Progressives' demand was to be introduced by Senator LaFollette, with the backing of liberal leaders on both sides of the Senate, including Norris (Rep.), of Nebraska, who Saturday announced his support of such a program, and Senator Costigan (Dem.), of Colorado.

The appeals for prompt relief action were voiced at a hearing of the Senate Manufacturers' Committee.

Dr. Sidney E. Goldstein, of New York, chairman of the joint committee on unemployment, declared:

"The picture is very much darker than anything known in America in recent years. No government can sow injustice without reaping revolution. Mr. Hoover and the Democratic and Republican parties seem to forget the primary function of the government is to protect citizens in time of danger. The

Tunney Attends Fete In Major's Uniform

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., June 20.—(INS.)—Maj. Gene Tunney, former heavyweight champion, marched beside Gov. Wilbur L. Cross in the Wesleyan commencement procession today as the Governor received an honorary degree.

It was one of the scholarly-inclined ex-pugilist's few public appearances as a military aide to the Governor since the latter appointed him to his military staff a year and a half ago. Tunney, in his uniform, was a major attraction at the exercises.

Menjou's Foster Son Held For Crash Killing Girl

LOS ANGELES, June 20.—(AP.)—Harold L. Menjou, 20, adopted son of Adolphe Menjou, screen actor, faced a police accusation of suspicion of murder today after his companion, Marjorie Gauthier, 16-year-old Beverly Hills high school girl, was killed in an apparent attempt to out-race a motorcycle officer.

Menjou and the girl were returning from a dance at the beach at an allegedly excessive speed when Officer Terry D. Jones saw them. Jones said he chased the automobile for six miles at 78 miles an hour.

Near the Los Angeles municipal airport Menjou failed to negotiate a sharp turn and the automobile turned over. The girl died before reaching a hospital. Menjou was uninjured. He was given a sobriety test which, officers said, showed he had been drinking, but was not intoxicated. He was placed in the Inglewood Jail.

Sheriff's deputies said a formal charge of murder would be placed against him.

Miss Gauthier was the daughter of C. B. Gauthier, geologist.

Menjou is the son of a former wife of the screen actor, and was adopted by Menjou in 1923. The youth said his mother married A. L. Abrahams after the divorce and that he made his home with her.

The Problem

NEARLY one-third of a million dollars was spent here for relief by the Family Welfare Association alone during May.

The Remedy

A $5,000,000,000 bond issue by the United States to build great public works, employ several million men, start the nation back to prosperity.

Court Frees Gang Leader In Fear of Machine Guns

CHICAGO, June 20.—(AP.)—Machine gun threats prompted Cook County officials today to dismiss a bank robbery charge against Danny McGeoghegan, beer hustler.

Assistant State's Attorney Walker Butler asked Judge John Prystalski to dismiss the charge of robbing the State Bank of Clearing of $60,000 on December 6, 1930. A jury recently disagreed. The court said:

"If your reasons are not secret I would like to know them."

Butler said:

"Lambert Bere and John Camphause, officials of the bank who identified McGeoghegan in his first trial, asked me to do it. They have been under guard in a Loop hotel since April 29, and their families and the bank need them."

The court said:

"I don't believe the state's attorney should stand here and confess he is not big enough to keep these men protected. I think Mr. Bere is big enough to take care of himself."

Butler replied:

"Not when he is faced with a machine gun, your honor."

Judge Prystalski signed the order, saying the state could take the responsibility.

The gangster, grinning widely, walked from the room, free.

NEW YORK'S 94 VOTES KEY TO DEMOCRATIC SKIRMISHING

LEADERS OPEN HEADQUARTERS IN CHICAGO

Roosevelt's Manager Sees Victory on First Ballot; Convention Opens Monday

By FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON

CHICAGO, June 20.—(AP.)—New York with her 94 votes became the sudden focal point of Democratic preconvention skirmishing here today as leaders of Gov. Roosevelt looked to the Empire State to make a choice for him in the quarrel with Alfred E. Smith.

The Roosevelt captains say the New York decision expected to be announced soon after the arrival of the delegation heads here Wednesday, will put their man "over the top."

James A. Farley, of New York, head of the newly-established Roosevelt camp here, won't comment on the probable decision in his state, but he smiles and insists "Roosevelt will win on the first ballot—I mean that."

MANY CLAIMS

But there are about as many claims as there are candidacies in Democracy's swiftly gathering convention conflict on this historic battleground and a lot of milling around is in prospect before the gavel falls next Monday.

The prohibition dispute, which divided the recent Republican conclave, is losing the spotlight to the presidential race among the Democrats.

Friends of Roosevelt are snapping up the repeal substitute rejected by the Republicans as their banner for the 1932 campaign. This proposes submission for a repeal amendment to the states with control of the liquor traffic to be returned to the states in event of repeal.

In the melee over the presidency, the ancient two-thirds nomination rule of the Democrats is up again for its customary round of speculation. There seems to be well-founded reports that some high in the Roosevelt council would eliminate this rule in favor of a majority nomination if their candidate goes over the majority line and a deadlock ensues.

DECISION TO WAIT

But that decision is going to wait the last-minute developments on the convention scene here this week—developments particularly in the New York delegation.

John Curry, Tammany chieftain, arrives Wednesday. Edward J. Flynn, New York Secretary of State, accompanied Farley here yesterday. Reports of a conference between Gov. Roosevelt and Curry prior to the announcement of selection of John Mack, of Poughkeepsie, as the man to place the Governor in nomination, added significance to the speculation here over New York.

Today Roosevelt has 563 pledged and claimed votes. Indiana's 30 will be picked late in the day or tomorrow. A majority of the convention is 578 and two-thirds is 770.

The whirl of pre-convention activity has brought decisions on many routine affairs. For Roosevelt, it was announced that Arthur F. Mullen, Nebraska's hard-fisted national committeeman, would be the floor manager, and Mack the nominating speaker. Mack placed Roosevelt in nomination 22 years ago for his first public office—State Senator.

SENATORS TALK DRY PLANK

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP.)—With their national convention only a week off, a group of Senate Democrats met today to discuss the party's prohibition and ecenomic platform declarations, but those participating said no agreement was reached.

The meeting was held in the office of Senator Hull (Dem.), of Tennessee, who has been prominently mentioned as the probable chairman of the resolutions committee which will draft the platform.

Senator Dill has drafted a prohibition plan which has received favorable consideration from a number of senators. It proposes submission to the people of an amendment to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment and would submit no alternative.

time for pleading is over. Fully 10,000,000 people are out of work. Both they and their dependents are at the point of despair. Outbreak and explosion are nearer than our leaders seem to realize."

The Rev. Dr. R. A. MacGowan, of Washington, member of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, declared:

"This is a national emergency and if you adjourn now without doing more for unemployment relief it will leave the country in most serious straits."

'MILLIONS SUFFERING'

The Rev. James Myers, industrial secretary of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, said:

"Millions of men, women and children are suffering extremes of privation. Their anxiety borders on despair. The nation has a major responsibility to care for its own. Both parties will be held morally responsible for whatever grave developments may arise unless the needs of the unemployed are met."

Denying that "this crisis is an act of God," Dr. Edward L. Israel, of Baltimore, chairman of the social justice committee of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, charged that actual starvation is widespread and added:

"Certain politicians are attempting to deceive the people. Their claims that state and local agencies are able to handle the situation are contradicted by the facts.

"If the executive branch of government is so hampered or blind as to veto such a proposition, you, who are closer to the people, might provide a program over a presidential veto. A public works program is the first essential in meeting the most desperate situation America has ever faced."

SPECTATORS APPLAUD

Spectators at the hearing applauded and applause broke out with renewed vigor when Edward F. McGrady, legislative representative of the American Federation of Labor vigorously criticized the "do nothing" policy of the administration. He testified:

"If we do not meet this situation without further delay, the cry next winter will not be to save the hungry but to save the government."

At least 600,000 veterans are unemployed, asserted John Mooney, a cousin to Tom Mooney, the California prisoner. He said:

"The bonus expeditionary forces, of which I am a member, urge that Congress should not adjourn till adequate unemployment relief has been granted."

Other witnesses described "tragic situations" in New York, Detroit and other cities.

HOOVER CALLS PARLEY

President Hoover called members of the House Banking Committee to the White House yesterday for a conference on the $300,000,000 bill, pending before that group, for direct relief of the destitute in sections where local funds have given out.

The President's move in supporting this measure, despite his vigorous opposition to it in the past, was seen as a parallel strategy to that adopted by Senate administration forces—in the nature of a compromise, hoping to head off the $5,500,000,000 program.

With Norris' open support behind La Follette, however, the progressive forces were conceded to be extremely strong and were understood to have collected such leaders as Senator Johnson (Rep.), of Cal.; Senator Wheeler (Dem.), of Montana, and Senator McKellar (Dem.), of Tennessee.

La Follette, discussing his plan, said:

"My theory is that if you're advocating a program of expansion of public works, for the purpose of putting men to work and starting business on the upgrade, it is necessary to make that plan comprehensive enough to do some real good."

While the Senate is debating the Wagner and La Follette plans, the House Banking Committee continues its consideration of the other Wagner measure for $300,000,000 in direct relief, which may be thrown back on the Senate's hand with drastic amendments in the event the House is displeased with the treatment which the Senate accords to the Garner relief bill, providing some $2,300,000,000 in public works ventures.

Bill to Give Needy Clothing Approved

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP.)—The Johnson bill for free distribution to the unemployed of surplus government cloth and wearing apparel was approved today by the House Labor Committee.

Surplus stocks would be turned over to the Red Cross, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veterans for free distribution to unemployed persons and their families during the winter of 1932-33.

Relief Workers Stress Needs in Crisis

City, county, state and federal governments must assist the community chests throughout the country if a sufficient program of community relief is to be carried on, according to the opinion of nearly 100 relief workers from seven states who today are attending a central states regional conference in the William Penn Hotel.

This was expressed following the address of Benjamin E. Shove, chairman of the budget committee of the community fund in Syracuse, N. Y., who addressed the gathering. Mr. Shove stated that officials of every city must be persuaded that they also should help in service work, as well as cate for the direct relief work, if a full program is to be carried out.

Mr. Shove said:

"Now is the time for community welfare leaders to prove what they have long preached, that a trained social worker is better than a political appointee. We must convince city officials that people are trained to do such work and can do it better and more economically than any political appointee."

Judge W. S. McLean president of the Community Welfare Federation also spoke, explaining how the Wilkes-Barre welfare group was able to put on a successful campaign last month. Instead of waiting until November to launch their annual drive, the Wilkes-Barre chest last month successfully collected funds that will run well into next year.

The delegates at the meeting are members of the community chests from the Central States, all affiliated with the Association of Community Chests and Councils.

DRY FOE SENDS CHALLENGE TO HOOVER

Pitcairn Demands Text Of G. O. P. Resubmission Amendment Be Given

Raymond Pitcairn, widely-known anti-Prohibitionist, announced in Pittsburgh today that he had challenged President Hoover's administration to make public the text of the Republicans' suggested resubmission amendment on prohibition as proof that the party's plank "was not a straddle."

The challenge was contained in a telegram to Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, who had praised the plank as a frank declaration.

Pitcairn explained that such publication would make clear the exact duties of the state conventions which the Republican party suggested should be called to vote on prohibition. He also suggested the amendment should be presented in Congress before the presidential election. The telegram said in part:

"Let the administraton immediately publish the text of the resubmission amendment by which the President is willing to have the people vote for repeal."

Such publication would prove the prohibition plank was not a straddle, Pitcairn contended.

Pitcairn was in Pittsburgh to attend a directors' meeting of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company. His telegram to Stimson was sent in the name of Republican Citizens' Committee Against National Prohibition, of which he is vice chairman.

DRY CHARGES STEAM ROLLER

EVANSTON, Ill., June 20.—(AP.)—Mrs. Ella A. Boole, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, charges many dry delegates to the Republican national convention "were deliberately silenced by the steam roller methods of Republican bosses."

She declared yesterday she did not believe the G. O. P. prohibition plank was written with the acquiescence of dry leaders and censured the resolutions committee, which she called "handpicked" by the administration, for "disregarding" recommendations of 33 dry organizations "for a firm stand on the Eighteenth Amendment."

The "steam roller," she said, was applied to the drys during the hearing of the resolutions committee on platform planks the night before the big dry debate on the floor of the Republican convention.

On the prohibition plank as adopted by the G. O. P., Mrs. Boole made no comment.

Wesleyan Head Sees Dry Law as Failure

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., June 20. (AP.)—Prohibition was termed a failure today by President James L. McConaughy in the baccalaureate address at Wesleyan University.

He said:

"The experiment was, I think, a noble one, but it has proved to be a failure; some other method must be tried."

Wharf's Cut-Rate Rum Sellers Fined

Three cut-rate "rum" merchants who set up their own bar on the Monongahela River bank downtown and peddled denatured alcohol were fined $25 each with the alternative of 30 days in the work house in Central Police Court today.

Police testified that three Negroes sold two grades of alcohol to residents of the Helping Hand—one grade at 2 cents a "shot" and better stuff, so to speak, for 3 cents a "jolt."

URGE ECONOMY FOR RELIEF

HARRISBURG, June 20.—(AP.)—Two groups of legislators in conference here today considered recommendations that any state unemployment relief funds to be provided at a proposed special session should come from economy in the cost of government.

Relief program committees representing rural legislators and the powerful Talbot-Turner House bloc in separate meetings today recommended economy in government and revision of the present departmental appropriations to provide relief funds rather than increase taxation.

The recommendations will be presented for approval of the two respective groups at separate meetings late this afternoon prior to the resumption of the Governor's conference with administration officials and political and legislative leaders.

At the Governor's conference late today, bills covering proposals contained in the Martin-Hazlett program and the Governor's suggestions for bond issues and a state income tax, will be considered. In addition the recommendations of the rural legislators and Talbot-Turner bloc, when and as finally approved, will be presented.

Curtis Addresses Vermont Graduates

BURLINGTON, Vt., June 30.—(INS.)—Self reliance, common sense, industry, energy, perserverance, honesty, sobriety and education will produce the leaders of tomorrow declared Charles Curtis, Vice President of the United States, in delivering the commencement address at the one hundred and forty-first annual exercises at the University of Vermont today.

Mr. Curtis received an honorary degree of doctor of laws. He told the graduates that self-reliance was "by far the most important single factor in success, whether in business or otherwise."

TALBOT AID BILL HELD FAILURE

The Talbot relief bill failed to add a single new dollar to the relief situation, according to Mrs. Helen G. Tyson, deputy commissioner of the State Department of Welfare. The $10,000,000 granted Pennsylvania's unemployed was merely a shifting of the budren from one group of agencies to another, she said.

State-aided hospitals, cut 25 per cent, have been compelled to curtail free care of destitute, she said, while the cut of appropriations to the mothers' assistance fund has reduced the allowance to widows below their requirements.

Mrs. Tyson said:

"We are hopeful that a special session of the Legislature will be called to enact measures for relief and restore the appropriations to our hospitals. No one, however, has any idea how bad health conditions are likely to be this winter."

Many Face Want As Relief Body Quits

PHILADELPHIA, June 20.—(AP.)—The Philadelphia Committee for Unemployment Relief, after distributing $14,500,000 in the last 18 months, today announced that it has decided to discontinue its activities and "dissolve forthwith" because of lack of funds.

The committee said 7,500 families will "face actual starvation" with suspension of its activities.

At the same time the committee appealed to Gov. Pinchot to call another special session of the Legislature, immediately, to consider relief.

Dry Fight Marks Minnesota Primary

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 20.—(AP.)—Prohibition occupied a prominent position in the foreground of today's primary election as Minnesotans marked the longest ballot in the history of the state to reduce the record field of 28 aspirants for congressional office to nine for each of three parties — Republican, Democrat and Farmer-Labor.

Because the state's reapportionment act was held invalid by the United States Supreme Court, the nominees were being chosen at large, not by districts. The state is entitled to nine representatives.

VETS TO WORK TO DEFEAT HOOVER

Invite Democrats to Aid In Winning Revenge for Defeat of Bonus Plea

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP.)—Stripped of an immediate objective by defeat of the bonus payment bill, leaders of the vast veterans' army camped here concentrated today on organized ex-service men for election day action, making tentative overtures to the Democratic party.

Finding the 62 Senators who voted down their bill a rather diffuse target, the legislative committee of the army aligned itself against President Hoover and the Republican party.

Last night it voted to query all Democratic presidential possibilities on their views about the bonus and other veterans' questions, at the same time directing letters to all posts of the American Legion and other ex-service men's organizations, informing them that:

"An effort to place a bonus plank in the Republican platform was laughed down and filed in the waste basket. Think it over, men."

BUILD OWN 'PLATFORM'

The significant slogan line attached to these letters was:

"Remember November."

Bearing in mind the possibility that neither the Democratic convention nor the nominee chosen there might give them any comfort, these political steersmen of the ex-soldiers started formulating a "platform" of their own.

Still rather nebulous today, the platform had one definite plank: Repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. Two Ohioans, William S. Keyser, of Cleveland, and M. Bernstein, of Dayton, proposed it, and the legislative group, composed of representatives of each major contingent or regiment in the army, approved it without difficulty. The general idea is that, failing Democratic support, the soldiers should give their vote to some third party movement.

RECRUITING DRIVE

The exact size of the army somewhere around 20,000, was much in doubt today. Many "veteran" members were taking French leave, but new contingents were pouring in, and an aggressive recruiting drive, aided by the widespread word that the army was gathering abundant food, appeared to be bearing some result.

The lack of an immediate objective, however, was helping stir friction in the ranks. A disgruntled former commander, George Alman, of Portland, Ore., was seeking support from the men against his ouster from the post of billeting officer because of a quarrel with police authorities.

Walter W. Waters, the present commander-in-chief, late last night asked police to arrrest Richard Lamb, 35, of Dallas, leader of the Texas contingent, saying his status as an ex-service man was questioned. He was held on an "investigation" charge.

200 More War Vets To Join 'Bonus Army'

Plans for a trip to Washington to join the "bonus army" were made by 200 World War veterans at a meeting in East Park, North Side, yesterday. The trip will be made Wednesday.

A truck loaded with veterans will leave at midnight tonight from Frankstown avenue and Oakwood street. They expect to arrive in the capital tomorrow night.

Hoover Misses Usual Services at Church

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP.)—Foregoing his usual custom of attending church Sunday mornings, President Hoover spent yesterday secluded in the White House.

White House attaches said there were no callers and that the Chief Executive worked most of the day. He did not make his usual weekend trip to his Rapidan camp.

G. A. R. WOMEN BOARDING CHARTERED BUS IN PITTSBURGH TO TRAVEL TO ENCAMPMENT

Youth Once Tried as Killer Of Mother Dies in Plane

OTTAWA, Ill., June 20.—(AP.)—Harry Hill, 27, young society man whose trial here a few years ago for the murder of his mother provided one of the most amazing and mysterious cases in Illinois' annals, was killed yesterday when his airplane crashed at a local airport. Two companions, Bert Lorenz, of Streator, and John Marshall, 20, of Berkeley, Cal., also were killed.

Hill, who was piloting the plane, was returning to Streator after a trip here, with the two youths as passengers.

Social pet, high school cheer leader and former Knox College student, Hill was tried in 1927 for the murder of his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth H. Hill. The jury disagreed and the case is still on the docket here for retrial. He had pleaded not guilty. The state's theory of the killing was that Harry, angered by his mother's threat to disown him if he continued to sign her name to checks and to see his sweetheart, shot her.

When Mrs. Hill's will was probated it was found she had left Harry her property, amounting to about $50,000. He was to come into it, according to the will, when he was 26 years old. The inheritance had since been turned over to him.

M. E. CONFERENCE VOTES TO WORK FOR BIRTH CONTROL

MOONEY PARDON ADVOCATED BY CHURCHMEN

Bellevue Session Denounces Bankers, Seeks Freedom From Radio 'Monopoly'

Co-operation with the Allegheny County Birth Control League was urged today by the Pittsburgh Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, meeting at the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church, in reiterating its indorsement of birth control.

The action was taken in adopting the Social Service Committee report which also favored the unconditional pardon and release of Thomas Mooney. The report of the committee, headed by the Rev. Dr. Albert E. Day, condemned bankers for "being only salesmen and selling millions of poor securities"; favored freedom of the air against radio monopoly and indorsed business organizations showing "the Christian spirit" by sharing profits of the company with employes.

The report defended birth control as a means to "promote recognition of family limitations wihin the sacred limits of the marriage relationship as the moral right of husband and wife, as essential to the increasing necessity for control of population produced by world economic distress and as a safeguard to the welfare of the children and of the family."

It approved the work of the local Birth Control League and urged co-operation.

Slight opposition was manifested with the introduction of the Mooney case in the report, but the recommendation was adopted, citing:

"A terrible miscarriage of justice took place. Mooney is serving a life sentence for a crime which he did not commit. We urge Mooney's unconditional pardon and release in co-operation with others in this struggle."

The opposition questioned the committee's right to consider such matters unrelated to church affairs. A resolution on the stand of the Republican party on prohibition was expected to be passed before the conference closed today.

ENGINE CRASH INJURES MAN

A man was seriously injured and damage estimated at $20,000 was caused yesterday when two freight engines of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad collided near the West Liberty avenue railroad trestle.

The injured man, Louis Jackson, 38, Negro, of Philadelphia, was in Mercy Hospital with a fracture of the skull. Jackson was riding on the train. The crews of both engines escaped uninjured, it was said.

The one engine, pulling freight cars, was driven by Engineer A. D. Moser, while the other, a shifting engine, was operated by F. F. McCann. The engines crashed head-on and struck the wall of a cliff bordering the tracks.

FOX LOSES PLEA TO ESCAPE QUIZ

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP.)—The Senate Banking Committee, by a unanimous vote, today refused to release William Fox, the former film capitalist, from a subpena to appear before it in its stock market investigation.

Fox, ill at his hotel here, has remained away from the committee's hearings and inquiry into his operations in Fox Films Corporation stocks.

Fox asked permission to return to New York to recuperate, promising that he would return when called by the committee.

Fox's representative refused to give his name to newspapermen and presented Norbeck a statement from Dr. F. A. Hornaday stating the doctor had examined Fox this morning and his condition remained such that appearing before the committee "would endanger his health or life or both."

DUBLIN GREETS POPE'S LEGATE TO CONGRESS

Scenes of Religious Fervor Mark Cardinal's Arrival At Eucharistic Meet

International News Service.

DUBLIN, June 20.—Dublin turned back four centuries in spirit today as for the first time in that period a papal legate arrived to open the thirty-first international eucharistic congress.

Scenes of religious fervor were enacted as Cardinal Laurenzo Lauri, resplendent in his robe and hat of scarlet, stepped ashore at the harbor of Dunloaghaire from the boat which brought him from England.

The Archbishop of Ireland and President Eamonn de Valera, of the Irish Free State executive council, were the first to greet the tall and stately cardinal as a salute of 21 guns was fired and a squadron of 13 planes soared overhead in the form of a cross.

The Archbishop and the President, followed by other members of the government and the high Irish church dignitaries, knelt before the Cardinal and kissed the ring of papal sovereignty while thousands of reverent spectators genuflected and intoned prayers.

Cardinal Lauri blessed the throng and then stepped into a motor car for the trip to the pro-cathedral, where the congress formally extended a reception to the legate.

The procession to the pro-cathedral was a triumph, the cavalcade of motor cars, escorted by brilliantly caparisoned cavalrymen, wending its way through streets packed with spectators and bedecked with the papal colors of yellow and white.

The ceremonies at the pro-cathedral, which marked the spiritual opening of the congress, were simple in the extreme. The ritual was heard by means of amplifiers by 100,000 kneeling listeners clustered in the streets near the edifice.

DIVORCED WIFE BACKS ALIBI

started for Uniontown. She said Donohoe had three times called the Bledsoe home and asked for her husband the day of the killing.

Bledsoe's attorney, Charles L. Davidson, asked:

"I believe you are now divorced from Mr. Bledsoe?"

"I am."

She said she charged unfaithfulness, and named Elsie Ritenour.

Mrs. Ritenour testified for the commonwealth that she had gone with Bledsoe to Baltimore and Gettysburg for a three-day trip just before the killing, and that Bledsoe had wanted her to swear that they had not arrived home until 1:20 or 1:30 o'clock that morning.

REVENGE CHARGED

The defense has insisted that since both secured divorces, Bledsoe has refused to marry Mrs. Ritenour, and that she is telling her story to "get even."

In calm tones Mrs. Bledsoe, dressed in simple gray, told her story. She had lived with the one-time head of the Baltimore and Ohio police at Connellsville for 12 years and had five children.

On the day Bledsoe left for Baltimore, he packed up his grip that afternoon, said Mrs. Bledsoe, and then busied himself with his car until evening. He said he had a conference with a Baltimore and Ohio official there.

Asked if Donohoe had been a frequent caller at the Bledsoe home, Mrs. Bledsoe said he had been there more than once and that he was last at the Bledsoe home on the Sunday previous to the murder.

The conversation in which Bledsoe explained how her husband "got the news" on the murder was objected to by District Attorney Wade K. Newell on the grounds it was hearsay. Judge Morrow, however, allowed it.

Judge S. John Morrow today called Police Commissioner Austin J. Roache, of Buffalo, N. Y., as a witness in the trial.

So much contention developed over the status of former County Detective Tony Bell in the Buffalo jail and his confession, that the court took the initiative and called Roache to Uniontown.

Bell's first confession was made to Roache. Notes taken by the police stenographer will be presented to court. The time of the murder in the original confession and the time mentioned in his confession to District Attorney Wade K. Newell is said to have differed materially.

Whether the defense or prosecution will call Roache as a witness has not been determined. Opening of court was delayed while Judge Morrow and Commissioner Roache conferred.

Plan to License Speakeasies to Get Revenue

CHICAGO, June 20.—(INS.)—Licensing speakeasies to raise $5,000,000 additional revenue has been proposed to the City Council by Alderman John S. Clark, chairman of the Finance Committee.

The plan would be carried out under the theory that speakeasies actually are "soft drink parlors." The Finance Committee was directed by the Council to investigate feasability of the plan.

CURTIS TO FACE NOTED LAWYER

FLEMINGTON, N. J., June 20.—(AP.)—Harry Stout was retained today to assist Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck, Jr., when John H. Curtis is brought to trial for the alleged hoaxing of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Stout is 70 years old and known as an astute criminal lawyer. His retention by the prosecution was opposed by Lloyd Fisher, counsel for Curtis, who argued that Stout had been in confidential communication with the defendant, and was therefore unqualified to act against him. He indicated he would move for Stout's dismissal from the case.

The trial is scheduled to begin next Monday. Prosecutor Hauck urged postponement until June 29 in informal conference with Judge Adam O. Robbins. The latter was disinclined to grant any delay.

3 POWERS JOIN IN ARMS PLAN

GENEVA, June 20.—(AP.)—The United States joined in a special three-power effort here over the week-end to reach some plan by means of which the world disarmament conference might be brought to an end with a measure of success.

With President Hoover in communication, over the trans-atlantic telephone, with the American delegation, representatives of the United States, Great Britain and France laid the plans of each country on the table and sought to find some common denominator for them.

No decision was reached, but arrangements were made to continue the discussions, extending them to representatives of other governments, especially Japan, Italy and Germany.

Those who participated in yesterday's conferences said they felt a useful preparation had been made. The Americans said they particularly got the impression the Europeans could "really determine to face realities and do business."

AIDE OF LINDY SOUGHT IN SLAYING

Spitale Linked in Gang Death of Vannie Higgins; Bullets Peril Pedestrians

International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Outraged by the brazen effrontery with which gangsters blotted out the life of Charles (Vannie) Higgins, overlord of booze in Brooklyn in disregard for the safety of innocent men, women and children, an inflamed citizenry today demanded that Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney end the peril from gangster killers.

The fatal shooting occurred just six months after the assassination of the New York racketeer, Jack (Legs) Diamond, and police today sought to question several members of his mob in connection with Higgins' violent death.

SPITALE SOUGHT

Salvatore Spitale, racketeer, named as one of the go-betweens in the Lindbergh baby kidnaping case; "Tough" Willie McCabe, who figured prominently in the investigation into the shooting of the late Arnold Rothstein, and friends of the slain "Lefty" Burke, Diamond lieutenant, were ordered "picked up" by police for interrogation.

Mulrooney himself took charge of the murder investigation. Speedy action was essential, police officials said, because of the fear that the Higgins shooting may lead to an outburst of gangland "vengeance" killings, further endangering bystanders.

Higgins died from wounds inflicted when the gangster executioners swept the Brooklyn street with bullets, firing from two automobiles headed in opposite directions.

DAUGHTER AT SIDE

The Brooklyn rum lord, who amassed a fortune from his illicit activities and was reaching out to "muscle in" on the New Jersey bootleg territory, was walking with his daughter, Jean, 7, at his side, when the attack was made.

His mother, Mrs. Mary Higgins, and his wife, Grace, were following them as he left a clubhouse where a dancing school, which Jean attended, gave some exercises.

As he moved toward his automobile parked nearby, two men lurking in the shadow of a building, called:

"Hey there, Vannie."

Higgins took one look at the men, and seemed to know the fate he faced.

FLEES IN VAIN

As the first burst of flame and lead rained down on the street, Higgins sheltered his daughter in the comparative safety of the side of the automobile. He himself ran zigzag down the street, to draw the fire away from his relatives.

Then the reckless shooting, endangering passersby, was concentrated on the running Higgins from the murder cars. Higgins, wounded, fell, but picked himself up and ran to the areaway of a house, where he collapsed.

Higgins died a few hours later without telling police the identity of his slayers. He told detectives:

"I'll take care of them, the dirty rats."

He indicated he knew who his murderers were.

His wife and mother, who escaped the hail of bullets by running back into the clubhouse, were with him when he died.

WALKER'S WIFE UNDER KNIFE

NEW YORK, June 20.—(INS.)—Mrs. James J. Walker, wife of the Mayor, today was to go to Polyclinic Hospital to undergo a minor operation.

The Mayor declared his wife's illness may cause him to postpone his trip to the Democratic national convention at Chicago.

NEW YORK, June 20.—(AP.)—Mayor Walker may "write something to vindicate the faith of the people in the Mayor of New York City," he told the graduating class of St. Xavier's College last night. He said:

"The present mayor is hardly an inspiration to a graduating class in the opinion of some of the 'visiting firemen' in our midst. Please be patient with me. If necessary, I shall write something that will vindicate the faith of those mothers and fathers who still believe in me."

The Mayor was 51 yesterday and he cut a cake. Presented in the grounds of the Shield of David Home for Orphan Girls, the cake was in the shape of a huge heart.

HOUSE STUDIES U. S. PAY CUTS

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP.)—Hopeful of reaching an early solution of one of the controversies barring congressional adjournment, the House today pushed toward a decision on whether to agree to the President's plan for furloughing government employes or stick to a flat pay cut proposal.

A conference committee has reached an accord on everything in the national economy bill except how to reduce the government payroll to aid the billion dollar tax measure balance the budget.

President Hoover's furlough plan for a month's vacation without pay, is estimated to save $80,000,000, while the House proposal for a flat pay cut of 10 per cent on all salaries over $1,200 is expected to save $112,000,000. The Senate has approved the Hoover plan.

Adoption of the pay cut would bring the total saving to $162,000,000 to $187,000,000. That much or more is estimated to be needed to balance the budget, along with the new tax rates becoming effective tomorrow.

TALKS OVER SEA TO GRADUATES

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass., June 20.—(AP.)—Mount Holyoke College seniors today heard their president's commencement address over a trans-oceanic telephone connection.

Mary E. Woolley, president of the college and American delegate to the disarmament conference, spoke to her senior class from Geneva, Switzerland.

Her voice, coming over the trans-oceanic connection, was amplified so that all attending the ninetyfifth Mount Holyoke commencement might hear. She said:

"I am glad that you are going to add your influence to the life of your day. It needs every bit of power that you can bring to it—intellectual power, and moral and spiritual power."

Smith Man Denies Bolt to Roosevelt

FITCHBURG, Mass., June 20.—(AP.)—M. Fred O'Connell, of Fitchburg, a Smith-pledged delegate to the Democratic national convention, whose talk with Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt Saturday led to reports of defection in the ranks of Massachusetts convention delegates, has dispelled the defection talk with a statement that his visit to the New York Governor was purely social.

Directed Verdict Acquits Kiesling

Police Chief Christ Kiesling, of Carnegie, was freed on a directed verdict on a charge of violating the elections laws by Visiting Judge J. H. McCann, of Cambria County. Kiesling was charged with having voted in the Third District of the Second Ward. His counsel, Congressman Harry Estep, won the directed verdict on the contention that the prosecution had not proved that Kiesling had not resided in the district.

Uncle Guilty as Slayer Of Boy Who Saved Life

WAYNESBURG, Pa., June 20.—Charles Ruttenberg, of Wheeling, was convicted in a verdict returned yesterday of the murder of his nephew, Herman Zimmerman, 17, of St. Paul, Minn., who died when Ruttenberg's store and residence in Nemacolin burned December 1. The defendant admitted in the trial that the youth saved his life in making a rope of bed sheets with which the two escaped. Zimmerman, badly burned, died 14 days later.

Ruttenberg collapsed when the verdict of guilty in the second degree was returned. He was carried from the court room and revived. He is being held in the Greene County Jail pending a court ruling on his request for release on bond.

The jury of five women and seven men received the case at 11:43 a. m. Saturday, and returned a verdict at 8:30 a. m. yesterday.

Testimony given by Ruttenberg showed that Zimmerman made the rope of sheets by which both escaped, but that the youth was the last of the two to leave the blazing structure.

On the witness stand Ruttenberg denied he had any knowledge of how the fire which destroyed his building had started. He was arrested last April in Pittsburgh.

Ex-Senator Dedicates New W. Va. Capitol

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 20.—(INS.)—Amid one of the most colorful settings and throngs the city of Charleston has ever witnessed, West Virginia's new $10,000,000 capitol building was dedicated here today as the state celebrated the sixty-ninth anniversary of the birth of West Virginia.

Former United States Senator Guy D. Goff, of Clarksburg, delivered the dedicatory address, and Gov. William G. Conley accepted the building, which has been 10 years under construction.

Capone's Younger Brother Grilled in Bombing

CHICAGO, June 20.—(AP.)—Another Capone figured in the newspaper headlines today—Albert Capone, third of four surviving brothers, two of whom, Al and Ralph, have made gangland history in Chicago.

Albert was questioned by police in suburban Cicero in connection with an attempt early yesterday to bomb the home of Mayor Joseph G. Cerny, whose election last April was hailed as a death blow to the rule of the Capone gang in Cicero's affairs.

The bomb, hurled from a passing automobile, failed to strike its intended mark, but ripped a hole in the sidewalk in front of the Mayor's residence. Mayor Cerny and his wife were spending the week-end in South Haven, Mich., at the time, and the only occupants of the place were Mrs. Cerny's sister, Miss Rose Novak, and her chum, Miss Mildred Hanus. Neither was hurt.

Chief of Police John L. Sullivan, who was "farmed" to turbulent Cicero by the Chicago police department, led a squad of men to a hotel where Al Capone once maintained an armored apartment, and arrested Albert Capone and 11 other suspects.

The police were uncertain as to the motive for the attempted bomb outrage. They believed, however, that it was either the work of Communists, who have been refused permission to hold meetings in the suburb, or that it was done by gamblers whose establishments have been closed by Mayor Cerny's administration.

GRAVE VANDAL HUNT TARDY

County detectives today were to make an investigation of the raid made on Rosedale Cemetery early yesterday by vandals who overturned 36 tombstones and trampled flowers and grass on two score graves.

Fred Geyer, president of the Manchester Congregational Church, owners of the burial ground, said that a complaint made at the county detective bureau and a request that somebody make an immediate investigation, brought the response detectives were not available on Sundays.

Geyer said he was at loss to understand any purpose in damaging the graves. He scored the county detectives for their failure to investigate the raid yesterday, pointing out that if they had been prompt in answering the call, finger prints might have been obtained from the tombstones.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., June 20.—Mrs. Beatrice Malinoski, 45, early today shot and killed herself after severely wounding her husband, John, 30, according to police. The husband, in New Castle Hospital, police said, told them that he and his wife quarreled over employment.

20 FACING DEATH TO AID SCIENCE

CHICAGO, June 20.—(Universal.)—Diseases of middle ages which accelerate the "down-hill" path to death of millions of persons who pass beyond the period of youth at 40, will be studied at first hand in 20 volunteer patients at the University of Chicago.

The laboratory "cases" have contracted to become soldiers in the front line trenches of science, so that their deterioration into death may assist in the development of preventive medicines to aid the generations that follow.

Their bond with the Lasker Foundation for Medical Research implies a real and imminent "rendezvous with death." They are pledged to appear for regular examinations, so that the course of their maladies may be charted.

All the volunteers are in the early stages of Bright's disease. This will be the first major attempt to study over a long period of years a malady at present incurable. For their contribution, the patients will receive the best medical care.

Ohio Man Killed By Fish Protector

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., June 20.—Charles Kutchmock, 45, of Uhrichsville, was shot and killed early today by William Gribble, of South New Philadelphia, police say, when he failed to comply with Gribble's command to stop dynamiting fish. Gribble said he meant to fire over Kutchmock's head, police said.

Lightning Bolt Strikes Between 2, Both Unhurt

Chauncey Ward, 40, and David Jones, 60, neighbors, of Margray street, Lincoln place, today are telling all their friends of the narrow escape they had yesterday when lightning struck and split a locust tree just 50 feet from where they were standing. The bolt then rebounded and passed between both men, striking the wire fence of Ward's home.

The only casualty was a sparrow. The electric storm lasted but a short time in that section.

Flier Seeks to Beat Lindy Speed Record

SANTA MONICA, Cal., June 20.—(INS.)—Hoping to better all records for West-East transcontinental air travel, Capt. James Dickson, carrying three film executives as passengers, hopped off early today for the Atlantic coast.

Capt. James Doolittle holds the existing solo record of 11 hours 15 minutes, while Col. Charles A. Lindbergh holds the passenger-carrying mark of 14 hours 23 minutes 27 seconds.

IMPORTANT NOTICE . . . to Duquesne Light Company CUSTOMERS . . .

The U. S. Government 3% Excise Tax on Electric Service becomes effective June 21, 1932

● THE TAX

The Federal Revenue Act of 1932, recently approved reads as follows:

"There is hereby imposed a tax equivalent to 3 per centum of the amount paid on or after the fifteenth day after the date of the enactment of this Act, for electrical energy for domestic or commercial consumption furnished after such date and before July 1, 1934, to be paid by the persons paying for such electrical energy and to be collected by the vendor."

● NOT A RATE INCREASE

This is not an increase in your electric rates. The Duquesne Light Company in accordance with the provisions of the Act is acting merely as an agent of the government. It is our duty to collect the tax from persons making payment for electric service, and to remit the tax collected to the Collector of Internal Revenue.

● METHOD OF COLLECTION

A sum equivalent to 3 per cent of the amount to be paid for electric service will be added to your monthly bill and will be payable at the time your bill for electric service is paid. Your first bill after the tax becomes effective will include a 3 per cent tax only on the amount paid for an estimated amount of electric service used after June 21 and up to and including the date your meter is read. Bills are payable as in the past at the Central Offices of the Company, the Gas and Electric Shops or to our authorized agencies.

● DISCOUNTS—AND THE TAX

Discounts on bills paid within the discount period remain the same. Furthermore, on bills paid within this period, only the balance after the discount has been deducted is subject to 3 per cent tax. On bills paid after the discount period has expired the total amount of the bill is taxable at 3 per cent. For example—if your electric bill is $3.30 and your discount amounts to $0.30, if paid within the discount period the tax would be 3% of the $3.00 or $0.09 . . . which amount will be added to your bill, making a total of $3.09. If your bill is not paid within the discount period the tax will be 3% of $3.30 or $0.10, making a total of $3.40.

Walter Winchell ON BROADWAY

A Columnist's Sec'y Jots Down a Few Notes

Dear W. W.: Talk about tough breaks, that one-time grand star, Fritzi Scheff, certainly needs her friends now, poor Fritzi having experienced her hardest blow with a landlord the other day.

Bobbe Arnst (Mrs. J. Weismuller) still feels wretched over the persistency of the talk that she and Johnny are on the verge . . . She asserts that they "understand each other" and what their respective careers mean to their happiness—and so I pass that along to you to ease the pangs of a bride of a year, whose husband became a star overnight—left to the mercy of sudden success and the adoration that goes with it.

Tried with no success to check the name of Lois Moran's new heart. That he is in the Social Register is okay . . . At any rate, Doug Montgomery is out . . . Connie Bennett's loss in that Beverly Hills bank collapse was $60,000, or to be exact, two weeks' wages . . . Jim Londos has been floored by Cupid—she is well-known for her dramatics with the Vagabond Theater of the Junior League in Baltimore . . . The Randolph Scott-Martha Sleeper romance has cooled and his new girl is Dorothy Burgess, the ingenue . . . And Gwili Andre, the new RKO Garbo, has been given strict orders not to be seen at functions or parties, and thus arouse the curious in the Maude Adams and Garbo manner . . . Len Hall, the movie mag man, who offended Barbara Stanwyck with that piece about her husband, Frank Fay, called . . . He said that he'd rather be popped on the nose by Barbara than receive the amorous favors of three-quarters of feminine Hollywood . . . That ought to calm her down.

Mrs. Paul Whiteman's literary efforts will be christened "The First 100 Pounds Are the Hardest" and it will be Ray Long'd in the fall at a dollar . . . It will also reveal Paul's love story . . . Incidentally, Mildred Bailey, of the Whiteman choir, expects her decree any day now, and "Red" Norvo, of the crew, will be her new mate . . . Speaking of love, Marcella Johnson is trousseau shopping. Her heart's slave bracelet is inscribed: "De Tout Mon Coeur," which is Parisian for "With all my heart" . . . Oh, dear . . . And if you don't think the glorious Swanson has gone sentiment, hear this: She cabled the "Hot-Cha" songfashioners to hasten two songs for her new picture, which will be tagged: "Perfect Understanding" . . . Gloria directed that one number be a lullaby (catch on?) and another tune similar to "You Try Somebody Else" . . . From Garbo's chiropodist comes this—that Greta hasn't huge pedals, at all!... They merely look large because she features flat heels. Does that impress you? . . . Jesse Lasky, Jr., has been bagged by Patricia Harper . . . Have a thrill in Etting's latest: "The Voice in the Old Village Choir."

I see that Lillian Bond is reported as "just being divorced from her British husband" . . . You know, I trust, that they were melted months ago, and that he is a New Yorker who promotes beauty contests, which is how Lillian met him when he was in London years ago . . . Earl Carroll's constant companion on the other side was a Mrs. Weber, a widow I think—may be his new backer . . . The Connolly & Swanstrom combination have a dandy name for their new revue—"Champagne," but they can't promote enough backing to buy a quart of it . . . Was thinking of an idea for a column for you, something titled: "Guys Who Ought to Pay Royalties" . . . A series of pokes at chaps who start a vogue and all sorts of pale carbon copies cash in on their genius . . . Jolson, for instance, who created the most imitated style of song-delivery . . . Stephen Foster, who wrote My Old Kentucky Home," and since then too many locals have longed for their mammies and cabin doors . . . Bee Palmer, who began the "hot-cha" vogue of warbling; Whispering Jack Smith, the first crooner . . . Toy around with it and make a lotta people miserable.

You might tell the desk about the rumpus up at the Kahns' 80th St. mansion . . . Mrs. Gilbert Kahn (the former Anne Whelan), who is divorcing Gilbert, found stiff opposition when she tried to go into her home last night. She now is with her pappy . . . The butler, it appears, has orders to bar her and all kin. Gilbert is out of town . . . Magistrate Carney wishes you would make it clear he wasn't the one you meant. He is now doing well at Philly's City Hall . . . Saw the preview of "Strange Interlude," which will go big in the big towns, but hardly in the suburban spots . . . Incidentally, those columnist movies, even with their favorable reports, limped dreadfully, the one at the Strand bringing the receipts down to a new low . . . L. Meltzer phoned. He describes a master of ceremonies as one who never chooses between old and new jokes—he uses them!

They've tried every camera angle they know of to make Terry Carrol (Nancy's sister) a star as big as Nancy . . . And Jean Harlow's cousin, Elsie Carpenter, is trying to crash the stage via stock . . . There is talk that B. P. Shulberg may be replaced by Walter Wanger . . . Rosalie Stewart's brother, Stuart, returns to Warners as casting director for the Long Island studios, and won't all the ladies be glad? . . . The blind Kennedys (Earl and wife), who slowly weave through the Broadway environs offering tunes for your coins, have groped their way from Hollywood. Mrs. Kennedy was once a sax tooter of note, and they've played for the best on the radio. Their scrapbooks will testify to their acclaim before they took to the pavements and they play three hours daily and practise two . . . They hail from St. Louis and started the vogue, which now has about 50 apers . . . They do not class themselves as beggars, by the way. They are troubadours, if you please.

The Sharkey-Schmeling pictures will be made with sound. . . . Here's an item: Charlton Andrews did a book tagged: "The Crime in Hollywood Boulevard," but his publisher rejected it because of the title, arguing that the name Hollywood "would kill any book." . . . I always thought that name had such glamour . . . Talk about literature, the 5 and 10 shops have gone literary, offering tomes by the best authors, Rinehart, Tully, et al., and on the counter there's a huge sign which bellows: "Reading Books" . . . Heheheh . . . Guinan says you may get her at the Frolics, Montreal . . . There is no truth in the report that Malin succeeds her on Long Island, he opens at the Calais there . . . Dorothy Dell was banged up in a crash the other night . . . They will deny it, but Garbo's favorite director, Edmund Goulding, and his recent bride, Marjorie Moss, are apart, already. —Your Girl Friday.

CHUTE JUMPERS HURT AT BETTIS

A man is in a serious condition in McKeesport Hospital today and another is recovering at his home from injuries suffered in parachute jumping mishaps at Bettis Airport yesterday.

August Joerger, 24, of 4201 Sherrod street, Lawrenceville, suffered a possible fractured pelvis and severe injuries of the back when his parachute failed to open after he leaped from a plane 3,000 feet above the field, airport officials said. He fell on a hillside beyond the field and was dragged nearly 200 feet along the ground by the parachute.

Harold Miller, 19, of 534 Maple street, East Pittsburgh, was treated at the hospital for lacerations of the head and face after he was dragged several feet by his parachute following a jump.

Discuss Plan For Cattle Drive

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1932, King Features Synd., Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, June 20. If plans now being discussed go through, California may see another great cattle drive such as the old rancheros used to put on in the early days of the state.

Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks leave here today to discuss the proposal with Sidney Fish, son of Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, of New York, who operates a large ranch near Monterey. The film couple would buy a herd of blooded cattle from Fish and transport them in early California style on one stage of the journey to their Rancho Santa Fe.

The full distance is about 400 miles and would, of course, present innumerable difficulties.

Mary Pickford

The picturesque phase of the idea is very attractive to Fairbanks and he wants to go through with it if the physical details can be arranged. Most important of these is the necessity for the journey to be made in such a way that the stock will not be injured.

EARS TO GROUND

Lilyan Tashman's Beverly Hills house—the one with the mirrored walls—is in a pink and white color scheme. And here's a new wrinkle. The star has had a special pair of hostess pajamas made to match her living room. They are black velvet trousers and pink and white tops. The rug in this room is white, the drapes pink...that rumor about Warners not taking up the options on any contract is the wildest yet. The studio is still laughing . . .

Eric Linden, R-K-O's young hopeful, will have a novel published in the near future. It's about Hollywood . . .

The film producers are waving contracts before Ernest Truex and his pretty wife . . . Fifi Dorsay may be here 10 days or she may stay the summer. Fanchon and Marco, local vaudeville impresarios, want her to head an act for the picture houses. There's also talk of her signing at Columbia for "Tampico." Latest star in the sick list is Joan Bennett. She is having trouble with her throat . . . Explain this, Carrie Krieger, stenographer in the R-K-O wardrobe department, was offered a part in a picture, but has turned it down. She doesn't want to become an actress.

Fifi Dorsay

WANTED: A BATH

Cecil B. De Mille is sending out an appeal to the nation's ablution engineers (they're a real organization) for assistance in creating a modern counterpart of an ancient Roman bath. He seeks an elaborate presentation without sacrifice of authenticity.

The picture, if you're forgetful, is "The Sign of the Cross."

That chain gang story which Roland Brown will direct for R-K-O is to have Tom Brown and Rochelle Hudson in important roles. Richard Dix will star, of course. The name is "Liberty Road." It will be the first of a series of chain stories to reach the screen.

Diving Horses Remain In Kennywood

Carver's Diving Horses have been retained for two more weeks as the free outdoor circus performance in Kennywood Park. Beginning today Lee Crosley's orchestra, with the Krushinski Brothers, will play in the park's dance pavilion. Next Monday evening Paul Tremaine will bring his dance orchestra of 15 pieces to Kennywood.

'Wet Parade' Current In Sheridan

"The Wet Parade," with Dorothy Jordan, is being screened in the Sheridan Square. The story is mainly devoted to a girl's bitter campaign for the abolition of intoxicating drink. Her father died at "Demon Rum's" hands. Many of the scenes picture tippling habits before and after prohibition.

Ann Dvorak Showing In Enright

A new star, Ann Dvorak, is playing "Strange Loves of Molly Louvain," current in the Enright. Opposite Miss Dvorak is Lee Tracy. The picture concerns a young girl who falls in love with the wrong sort of man.

Darrow to Renew Fight to Save Boy

CHICAGO, June 20.—(AP.)—Clarence Darrow, veteran attorney and militant foe of capital punishment, will appear before the Illinois Supereme Court Wednesday to make a second plea in behalf of Russell McWilliams, 17-year-old Rockford, (Ill.,) slayer sentenced to die Friday. McWilliams killed a street car conductor during a holdup.

Peppy

Lilian Harvey is a peppy salesgirl in "Congress Dances," beginning Thursday in the Fulton.

Delegates and members from many sections of the United States were in Pittsburgh today for sessions of the thirty-seventh annual convention of the Lithuanian Alliance of America in its hall, 1721 Jane street, South Side. The organization has a membership of 25,000.

The visitors were to be welcomed to the city by Charles P. Lang, assistant city solicitor, acting for Mayor Charles H. Kline. The annual banquet will be held in the hall tonight, at which time the opera "Faust" will be presented by the Lithuanian Opera Company in the Lithuanian language.

The society's picnic was held at Adams Grove, Castle Shannon, yesterday.

-:- Plays and Players -:-

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

If the Theater Guild is able to borrow Edward G. Robinson from the movies, he will play the male lead in the Guild's first production of the coming season, a dramatization of Pearl S. Buck's Pulitzer prize novel, "The Good Earth," which is being fitted to the dimensions of the stage by the Davises, pere and fils. Alla Nazimova, as has been announced, has been selected for the feminine lead, her third for the Guild, the others having been in "A Month In the Country" and "Mourning Becomes Electra."

* * *

Leslie Howard also is being talked of as a Guild possibility when he returns to Broadway from that old actor-magnet, Hollywood. The Guild's third coming production will be "This Side of Idolatry," by Talbot Jennings, in which it seems there is a fellow named Shakespeare, which the Guild would like Howard to portray. The common thing about the character and the actor is nativity in Merrie England.

* * *

Fanchon and Marco, brother and sister, the feminine half of which many remember as a vaudeville artist—a Gypsy violinist—are the big shots of "presentation" production for movie houses just now, sending numerous "unit" shows on the road. Among programs they are arranging are some that will be headed by such stars as Eddie Cantor, Al Jolson, Ted Lewis, June Knight and Raquel Torres of the movies.

* * *

Jack Oakie, who will play the leading role of a pugilist in the fillim, "Madison Square Garden," has tentative plans for a personal-appearance tour after the picture is completed. He will team with Teddy Hayes, who is training him for his picture role, but expects to stand up against local boxers in the towns in which he will appear.

BITS OF LIFE

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

Gentlemen of the Jury

ACCORDING TO Fred Kaplan, the people's choice for the next mayor of Broadway, the case actually came to pass in one of the local courts only a few weeks ago. The picture was the same as usual. The opposing attorneys scowled at each other and said a great deal about nothing. The judge was sipping a glass of water, wishing it were a highball.

The case was one of the negligence variety. A woman had walked over a grating in front of an apartment house. The grating, she claimed, was loose. She fell. The ambulance and the lawyer arrived almost simultaneously. And a short time later, the owner of the property was sued for $25,000 by the lady of the accident.

The attorney for the plaintiff could have asked for much more money. As a matter of fact, in cases such as these, it is nothing to sue for $100,000 in the hope that the defendant will settle for $1,000.

But this lawyer—let's call him Mr. Moore—didn't see any sense in carrying this action that far. His case was of the cheese variety, and nobody knew it any better than he. He had taken the matter on the usual 50-50 basis and he had to go through with it.

Here they were in court, then, and it was almost time for the jury to retire. Mr. Moore stood before that jury—12 good men, and gave what he considered an excellent piece of oratory.

Some 20 minutes later the jury retired. Mr. Moore went over to the attorney for the defense. Harsh words had passed between these two men during the trial. As a matter of fact, it looked at one time as though they were going to come to blows.

Mr. Moore looked squarely at his rival. The other man returned the gaze. It was an excellent scene and you would have enjoyed being there.

Mr. Moore spoke first.

"Let's go over to Charlie's for a drink," he said.

"Okay, pal," replied the other man . . .

That jury was out almost three hours. Mr. Moore couldn't understand it. The case didn't merit that kind of consideration. Not by a long shot. Still and all, there they were. And the lawyer began to feel rather happy. When a jury stayed out that long, it could mean but one thing. They were arguing about the amount of money to be given.

As the minutes went by, Mr. Moore began to beam. Anything could happen now. Why, they might award his client $2,000—or they might even go to $3,000!

Suddenly, the jury filed back. They wanted, it appeared, to ask a question.

"We would like to know," said the juryman, "about something on which we are in doubt. Is it possible for us to return a verdict of more than $25,000."

More than $25,000! Mr. Moore almost fell through the floor.

The judge was speaking.

"The answer to your question is no," he asserted.

The jury filed out again. Mr. Moore swallowed hard and raced to the nearest telephone. He called his wife.

"Frances," he cried joyously, "I just knocked a jury cold with one of my summations. I'm going to split the largest verdict I've ever received in my life. Start to pack, honey, because we're going to spend a month abroad.

"Maybe we'll spend two months. I don't know. I'm the happiest guy in the world. I'll call you back. Good-bye."

Another 10 minutes and the jury was back again.

The judge asked the foreman for his verdict. The latter gentleman smiled.

"We have decided," he said, "that the defendant is not guilty of negligence."

Not guilty! Mr. Moore turned white. They courtroom buzzed. What the devil had happened? Here was a jury which had asked about a huge amount and then, a few minutes later, reversed itself completely. The judge looked as puzzled as the others, but he had the power to do something about it. He dismissed the jury and called the foreman before him.

"This is off the records," he said. "For my own satisfaction, I would like to know just what happened in there. What made you come out and ask the question you did before if you weren't going to award any damages?"

The foreman shrugged his shoulders.

"Well, judge," he replied, "it was this way. On the very first vote it was eleven to one for the defendant. The one man who was holding out was the silliest guy I ever saw. No matter what we said, he disagreed. We sat around and sat around and sat around while he kept talking and arguing.

"He finally made a statement that got me nervous. He said that a jury could do anything it wished. He said that, in a case such as this, we could even bring in a verdict for more than the amount asked.

"That was too much for me, your honor, and I got sore. I said he was wrong, and we wound up by making a bet about it. The bet was for $100 in cash and, in addition, he was to give in to us on the verdict if he lost. So we came in and asked you the question. He lost. And that ended the case.

"That's all there was to it, Judge. All you did was settle the bet." . . . * * *

Out in the corridor Mr. Moore was talking to his wife again.

"You can stop packing, Frances," he murmured sadly. "You never know what a jury will do."

Safe Spending Is Wise Spending

YOU may pay a little more in the best stores than in the cheapest, but the difference in service and satisfaction is more than balanced by the difference in price. Good stores would not attract, and hold over a long period, the best patronage of the community, if this were not so. The character of a store's permanent clientele is the best gauge of the soundness of its appeal.

No June has brought lovelier brides than this one, and no bride has been lovelier than Jean Hope Hustead, daughter of the J. E. Husteads, of Uniontown, who married Albert Tucker Phelps, son of William Phelps and the late Mrs. Phelps, of Caracas, Venezuela, S. A., Saturday afternoon. The ceremony took place in St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Uniontown, with the Rev. Donald Kent Johnston, rector, officiating. The church was lovely with summer flowers and ferns in the soft glow of tapers in tall candelabra on either side of the chapel.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a Grecian gown of white satin, having a high neckline, long, close-fitting sleeves, made on long sweeping lines, moulded to the figure. Her veil of tulle cascaded from a cap of Duchess and rose point lace, and she carried gardenias and orchids.

* * *

The attendants all wore gowns of nile green crepe, princess mode, having the flaring skirts edged with tulle ruching, with jackets having puffed sleeves. Their hats were tiny, shallow brimmed affairs, dipping over the right eye. They were trimmed with a single band of green velvet ribbon forming a bow in back. Their bouquets were of vari-colored garden flowers. And Mrs. James Negley Cooke, of Scarsdale, N. Y., was the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Janet Hardie, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. John Phelps, of Caracas; Grace Fennell, of New Rochelle, N. Y.; Virginia Herold, of Rye, and Dorothy Mercandante, of Larchmont, N. Y.

Gowned in Green

Serving as best man was the bridegroom's father, and ushers included two brothers, John and William Phelps, also of Caracas; Edward Curley, New Haven, Conn.; Edward Hustead, New York; Joseph Hall, Washington, Conn.; Cameron MacKenzie, New York; George Henderson and the bride's brother, James Hustead, both of Uniontown.

There was a 15-minute organ recital preceding the ceremony, played by Carl Ansteir.

At the reception for 100 guests in the Hustead home, Pointerhope," garden flowers and ferns were used in decorating. Mrs. Hustead, in the receiving line, wore blue lace with a matching hat of straw, and corsage of white orchids.

Reception For 100

The Phelpses left for New York to remain until tomorrow when the bridegroom will graduate from Yale University, and later they'll sail on the Bremen for Europe, to be at home after October 1 in Caracas.

The bride made her bow in Uniontown, and attended the Winchester School for Girls here, and Mrs. Dow's School, Briarcliff Manor, N. Y.

Among the guests were the P. T. Hoppers, and their daughter, Nancy, the Walter Hardies, Thomas Douglass, Caroline Mitchell, the Harold Kennedys and the Donald Stones, all of Pittsburgh; Tabor Grange and Frank Jarvis, of Sewickley; the Robert Singers and Mrs. Richard Coulter, of Greensburg.

PARIS, June 20. — Organdy and net hardly seem to be materials to make broad-brimmed hats, yet they are the very ones being used by the Paris milliners. Transparent hats, especially those of black materials, are considered the smartest of this year's crop of afternoon fashions.

* * *

THERE IS nothing of the floppy garden hat about these new wide-brimmed affairs. Their brims are trim and firm and stay at a definitely set angle. Whether of transparent straw or of tulle, these hat brims are starched into place and may be dipped and turned and shaped as effectively as felt or milan.

* * *

WHETHER WIDE or narrow-brimmed, most of these new transparent hats take the sharp up-at-the left tilt. The angle is so extreme that practically the whole of the left side of one's head and hair is on view, with the right side covering head, face and neck. Brims are usually slightly narrower at the back and are sometimes slightly shortened at the front as well.

* * *

MAINBOCHER'S capeline, with its gathered crown, has an immense brim, with widened portions at the front and side. It is in bright red fine straw, with the folds of its crown tied with a brilliant red ribbon.

* * *

ONLY SLIGHTLY narrower in brim is Mado's new tulle hat (sketched at the upper right). Its flat orange flowers are sharply silhouetted against the frail black of the net crown and brim. Doubled folds of the tulle are incrusted at the back edge of the brim.

* * *

SUZANNE-TALBOT uses stiffly starched black organdy to make a little afternoon hat with an undulating brim. Two bows of black ribbon, knotted with white, are its only trimming—one at the right of the crown and one under the brim at the left side.

Decker, president of the Mifflin Township Annexation Committee. Chairmen will be named to head each of the nine groups to conduct meetings as soon as a date for the annexation election is set. City Council accepted a petition last week. The township includes the City-County Airport and Bettis Field.

Are Boys Inconsistent About Kissing Question?

Should Nicky Kiss 'Em Good Night?

"If you don't," she wails, "they think you're slow, and if you do, they think you're fast!"

So, altogether, there seems to be no pleasing these men. At least, that's the way it seems to Nicky, and to scores of other bewildered girls—girls who would like to be popular, to go places and see things, but who don't like to be mauled.

How about it, boys?

Do you, or don't you expect every girl you take out to "pay off" when you tell her good night; and what do you think of her if she doesn't—or does?

Is Nicky's wail true?

"My Dear Miss Martin—

"I have a problem, so I am coming to you for advice. From what I hear it is a problem that plenty of other girls have, too, and I hope that you can throw out a life line. We certainly need it.

"I am a girl, 17, my last birthday. I like to have lots of friends, and to have fun. I want to be popular, but I'm badly muddled about some things. My gosh, I never thought it would be like this to be 'grown up.' I thought that when I reached that stage everything would be plain sailing, and I would be boss of my own fate, but I'm beginning to see that I'm just taking on a flock of new worries.

"The particular big worry now is boys.

"When one takes me home, he almost invariably seems to take it for granted that I'm going to 'kiss him good night' at the door. And they're so funny! I don't understand them at all. I've always heard smart remarks about girls being queer and so forth, but for real queerness, I've found out that boys seem to take the hand-knitted bath tub. Why I think so is this:

"If you don't kiss them they think you're a prude and 'too slow.' Then if you do, they get the idea you're fast. Maybe the boys can explain this, but as just a dumb girl trying to get along, it has me beat.

"Anyway, I'm not particularly crazy about kissing every boy I go out with. I can genuinely enjoy being with some boy without wanting to kiss him. Why can't boys understand that? They don't seem to. They seem to consider it as a personal insult of some sort if you don't fall all over yourself to 'mush' over them. Don't they ever think of anything else?

"Do all boys expect every girl they go out with and show a good time to kiss them good night as payment? Do they think they have a right to expect that? Or do they imagine that the girls are, or should be, just dying to kiss them?

"Why should they be so inconsistent? Why should they call you a frost if you don't kiss them, and call you fast if you do? I wish some of them would explain to me. It certainly has me in the dark, and I'd like a little light on the subject. They leave you to sit all alone if you don't kiss them, and if you do they try to take liberties, then act surprised and hurt when you resent it.

"What would you do about it? I don't want to be left alone all the time, and I don't want to be fast, either. NICKY."

All right, boys; can you explain to Nicky?

Is it true that you think you have a right to expect any girl to kiss you; that you think she's a flat tire if she doesn't, and a cheap hussy if she does?

If so, why so?

Fay King Favors Changing Names That Are Difficult to Pronounce

I'VE CHANGED MY NAME TO A SIMPLER ONE!
A BUSINESS GIRL SHOULD HAVE AS MUCH RIGHT TO ASSUME ANOTHER NAME AS AN ACTRESS HAS.
WELL! YOUR OWN NAME WON'T DO. WE'LL GIVE YOU A BETTER ONE!
THE STAGE AND SCREEN KNOW THE VALUE OF A NAME
WHAT IS THE NAME AGAIN, PLEASE? —I'M SORRY, BUT I DON'T GET IT. WOULD YOU MIND SPELLING IT, PLEASE?
FAY-KING

By FAY KING

One thinks nothing of the fact that stars of the stage and screen take assumed names.

Countless authors have written under "pen names."

Pugilists and baseball players take names that are more appropriate to their calling than their own.

So why shouldn't those in business life have the right to use a name they like better than their own without arousing suspicion.

There are names which are hard to spell, and difficult to understand over the telephone.

To simplify or change such a name would be a great help.

A simple, easy name is a great asset. It happens my name is my own. But I would have changed it had it been difficult to spell, pronounce and remember, no matter what my work.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Planning a Shower

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you kindly let me know who should give a shower for a prospective mother? I think it should be given by a friend, not a relative. B.

You are right. If a close friend plans a shower, it gives the party-idea a better appearance than if a relative plans it. Having a relative plan the shower gives it too much the appearance of too definite a bid for gifts.

Typed Letter

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it proper to send a letter of thanks in typewritten form? A boy has secured a position through a Mr. Smith who spoke to a friend of his, who hired this boy. I think he should write a letter of thanks to Mr. Smith in his own handwriting. But he says my idea is old-fashioned. We hope you will help us. H. K.

For this kind of letter, a typewritten would be as appropriate as a letter written in handwriting. This letter is in the nature of a business letter, and so the typing would be consistent.

Household Hints

White table linen and summer frocks that are slightly "yellowed" can be whitened by dipping the washed linen or frocks in a white dye bath.

An attractive, inexpensive and easily made luncheon cloth for summer use is made of unbleached muslin, with a broad band of plain blue gingham around the border.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Do you know that by eating carrots every day for a week you can put a creamy surface on a pale, wan skin? This isn't beauty surmising, but the report of a medical man. One must not overdo the carrot-consuming treatment or the complexion will become yellow. Strange, indeed, are the ways of nature, and wise are the ways of the docs.

Deep breathing exercises will develop the chest cavity, fill out a throat that has gone saggy. Stand at an open window, hands on hips, take a deep breath through the nostrils, drinking in the air slowly. Lift up on the toes. Exhale through the lips with a whistling sound. This simple exercise aerates the lungs, develops muscles, reddens cheeks.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Neglect of Any Defect of the Eyes May Do Lasting Harm

Small children at play are always getting dirt and sand in their eyes, and none but the gentlest measures should be used in attempting its removal.

Dr. Copeland

Rubbing the eyes may cause sharp particles to penetrate the cornea, with very serious consequences. Washing the eye with cool boiled water, used in an eye-cup, will sometimes help. If this simple expedient fails, the services of a physician should be sought.

An inflammation of the eyes known as "conjunctivitis" is common in children. The eyelids become swollen, the child shuns the light, and there is a profuse catarrhal secretion from the eyes. This condition frequently accompanies a head cold, since it is easy for the germs to enter the eyes from the nose.

Contagious diseases, especially measles, usually are accompanied by such an inflammation of the eyes, and frequently the eye trouble may not subside, even when recovery from the disease seems complete. In such cases, unless proper treatment is followed, a chronic conjunctivities may result. Then it is difficult to cure, and causes the little patient great suffering and disfigurement.

Inflammation of the hair glands of the lid is common in children who are not physically fit. Small blisters may form on the edges of the lids, and in the morning the eyelids may be stuck together. A simple eye wash and the application of a little olive oil will give relief.

The real source of such a condition is constitutional, although some defect in vision or eye strain may be the direct cause. A general building up of the body, assisted by pure cod-liver oil as a tonic, will hasten recovery. In school children an eye test should be made.

Another disorder of the eye is a painful infection of a hair follicle, known as a "sty." The eyelid becomes swollen and painful and the symptoms grow worse for several days. Finally a small, pinlike spot appears, and a discharge of pus follows. Bathing with a warm solution of boric acid is the regulation treatment, but if sties become a habit, the cause must be sought.

Muscular weakness of the eyes, as shown by cross-eyes, is caused by unequal strength of the muscles of the eyeball. Some cases can be corrected by exercises or by the use of glasses, but if such a condition is neglected for any length of time the only cure is an operation.

The old-fashioned idea that a child will grow out of such an eye defect has brought suffering to many a little child, giving him the reputation of being stupid, making him backward in school, and giving him a sense of inferiority. Proper and immediate treatment should be given any eye defect in a child.

Contract Bridge -:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

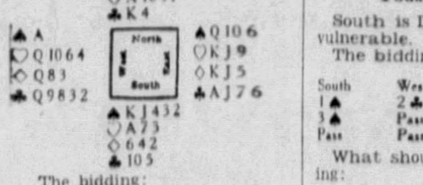
By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Shaded Biddable Suits

Contract players have seen by bitter experience that should they find a trickless Dummy, or even a weak Dummy, devoid of entries, there is nothing so dangerous as the play of a hand at notrump, particularly when vulnerable. At notrump when the distribution of the hands has not been tested out through approaching with low suit bids, almost anything can happen, and frequently does.

An example of this occurred in a recent team-of-four game in Mobile, Ala., where two teams were contesting for the city championship.

East—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.



The bidding:

South	West	North	East
			1 ♣ (1)
1 ♠ (2)	3 ♣ (3)	Pass	3 N T (4)
Pass	4 ♣ (5)	Pass	5 ♣ (6)
Pass	Pass	Pass

(1) A shaded biddable suit, but better, than opening with one notrump, as it facilitates the free exchange of information rather than retards it.

(2) Obviously, South would not bid two spades over one notrump.

(3) West holds an additional Raise in reserve.

(4) East discloses the even distribution of his hand, which suggests play at notrump rather than a suit.

(5) West's hand loses 2 tricks in value by play at notrump rather than at clubs. He, therefore, now gives the optional Raise heretofore withheld.

(6) With 3½ honor-tricks and assured a favorable distribution, East feels that the try for game is worthwhile.

Five clubs were made, the successful finesse in clubs eliminating the possibility of any losers in that suit, and North and South cashed only the Ace of hearts and the Ace of diamonds.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED
Mrs. Culbertson will be glad to answer any specific question on bidding or play sent in by readers. Address her in care of this newspaper, inclosing a two-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

At the other table, the hand was played at three notrump and was defeated 3 tricks for a penalty of 500 points, a difference of 1100 points in favor of exploring the distributional strength of the hand before deciding to play the hand at notrump.

Today's Question:

South is Dealer. Neither side vulnerable.
The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♣	2 N T	3 ◇
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

What should West lead, holding:

♠ A ♡ 9 6 3 ◇ A 7 3 ♣ Q 9 8 6 4 2

Answer: The diamond Ace, with intention of switching to the club 6. It is entirely probable that partner holds a singleton club and can ruff the second round after West gets in with his spade Ace. A club ruff and the indicated diamond King are the minimum tricks required by East to set the contract, since West holds 2 tricks. The lead of the diamond Ace first enables West to look over the Dummy and also prevents the immediate discard of a losing diamond by South in case North has the Ace and King of clubs.

QUIZ OFFICERS TRAILING BEER

Eight constables riding in one auto today realized the disadvantages of motoring behind a truckload of beer.

That was what they were doing in Mt. Lebanon when the truck broke down, and Mt. Lebanon police arrived.

The constables' car sped ahead. But the police followed. The officers of the law were questioned, then allowed to proceed—but Chief William Kane said he didn't know whether it was true they proceeded to a picnic.

The beer truck driver, Charles C. Harding, who was turned over to federal authorities, said he worked for a man named Smith, Kane reported.

The seven barrels of beer were taken to the police station.

Lieut. Ted Carrington said a certain justice of the peace soon appeared and offered to post $300 bond for release of the truck—and contents—but the offer was refused.

Harding, who said he lived in Hale street, was held on a charge of possession by the U. S. Commissioner.

"I waited too long before I put my foot on the brake."

McCready paid for the damage and Magistrate J. Scott Morgan dismissed the case.

NAZIS DEFEATED IN BATTLES

BERLIN, June 20.—(AP.)—Adolph Hitler's National Socialists blossomed out again in bright new uniforms under authority of a decree from the new German cabinet, got the worst of it in several battles with state police in Southern and Western Germany over the week-end.

Several hundred of them were arrested, the state police confiscated the long-forbidden uniforms, and many were injured in the fights that took place.

In Munich, Bavaria, where the state government forbade the wearing of the uniforms in spite of the cabinet's decree, 470 Nazis were arrested and their regalia confiscated.

In the state diet elections in Hesse, the Hitlerites raised their 27 seats to 32, but failed by one seat to secure enough strength to assure control of the Diet, with their allies.

NEW DOWNTOWN BANK SOUGHT

An application for a charter for a new bank to replace the closed Monongahela National at Sixth and Wood streets, has been filed with Comptroller of the Currency John W. Pole in Washington, according to advices from the capital today.

Commercial Trust Company of New York representatives, who were in Pittsburgh several weeks ago planning the reopening of the Citizens Trust Company of Bellevue, were reported to have conferred with George E. Benson, former president of the Monongahela bank and head of the group proposing the new bank. Benson admitted plans were being made for a new bank but declined further comment.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 20.—(AP.)—Miss Lenore Cawker, who attained a unique place in affections of the Middle West by devoting her life to relief of suffering among animals, died here yesterday. She was 58.

On clover fields about Milwaukee dozens of horses are browsing today because Miss Cawker rescued them when Milwaukee motorized its fire department. Hundreds of thousands of cats and dogs in 40 years enjoyed the hospitality of her animal home.

'AMELIA'S DAY ON AIR :-: Noted Aviatrix Honored In Three Broadcasts :-: RADIO PROGRAMS

Dr. Butler On WCAE Tonight

It's Amelia Earhart Putnam day on the air with three broadcasts marking the noted aviatrix's return to the United States following her history-making flight across the Atlantic.

Mrs. Putnam

This afternoon's ceremonies attending the official greeting, including the presentation of the Cross of Honor of the United States Flag Association and New York City's welcome by Mayor James J. Walker at the luncheon of the Advertising Federation of America, carried on both WCAE and WJAS, are followed tonight by an honorary program on WJAS at 11 o'clock. At that time the Columbia medal for distinguished service in linking aviation and radio in promotion of international amity and progress is presented to Mrs. Putnam by Henry A. Bellows, vice president of CBS.

Climaxing the nation-wide tribute to the aviatrix, President Herbert Hoover will present to Mrs. Putnam the National Geographic Society gold medal in recognition of her lone flight, during a program broadcast over a coast-to-coast NBC network, including WCAE, tomorrow night at 9. The broadcast will originate in Constitution Hall, Washington.

"The International Mind" is the topic of an address by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, over WCAE tonight at 10. Dr. Butler's talk is broadcast from the main ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, where the twenty-eighth annual convention of the Advertising Federation of America is in session.

Phillips H. Lord, creator of "Seth Parker" and "The Stebbins Boys," becomes "The Country Doctor" in a new program starting on KDKA tonight at 10. The programs, sponsored by Listerine, will be heard each Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday night at the same hour.

* * *

Program Pointers

Beginning tonight, Frank Andrini, the Wizard of the Strings, who frequently plays four string instruments in one number, and his brother, Lawrence, will be heard in the Sun-Telegraph Nite Club of the Air on WCAE. The brothers recently returned to Pittsburgh from a vaudeville tour on an RKO circuit . . . Co-starred with the Andrini brothers on tonight's program at 11 are Betty Cruikshank, contralto, the Friendly Four Quartet and Pat Haley, master of ceremonies.

Miss Cruikshank

Dan McCarthey, lyric tenor and member of the Polyphonic Choir of Pittsburgh, is presented by KDKA today at 4:45 in a recital of favorite melodies including "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling."

The Shindiggers, directed by C. O. Long, of Natrona Heights, celebrate their first anniversary on WWSW at 9:15.

Kay Donna sings "Moonlight and Roses," "My Little Grey Home in the West" and "Limehouse Blues" during her "Do You Remember?" network program on WCAE at 10:30.

A new series of perfume programs featuring Howard Lanin's orchestra and Alice Remsen, contralto, is inaugurated on WJAS at 9:30.

A new five-a-week program for the kiddies—"Pops Pirate Club"—is heard for the first time on WCAE today at 5:30.

The story of a remarkable woman known as "Mother Ward" who operated a restaurant in a boom mining camp is told by the Old Ranger on KDKA at 8:30.

* * *

Fan Fare

The first voice to be broadcast last winter from the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House—that of Queen Mario—may soon be heard frequently over NBC networks . . . Miss Mario recently came under the management of the NBC Artists' Service . . . Peggy Keenan and Sandra Phillips, Columbia'stitian-haired piano team, find the business of broadcasting so strenuous that they require nourishment before each program . . . They always have coffee and sandwiches brought up to the studio during the dress rehearsal and partake of a hurried lunch just before going on the air.

Miss Mario

Dave Rubinoff recently acquired the first sunburn he ever had in his life . . . Ed Wynn changes his hat and coat for each episode of his Tuesday night broadcasts while the musical selections of the program are being played . . . They'd have you believe that Georgie Price carries pictures of those he is about to imitate into the studio with him and looks at them as he is addressing the microphone.

When Grace Moore steps up to the microphone to sing on that tire program, Victor Young turns over the baton to Wilfred Pelletier, Metropolitan Opera conductor.

'Wizard of Strings' In Nite Club

A varied program by Frank Andrini, "Wizard of the Strings," and his brother, Lawrence; Betty Cruikshank, contralto, and the Friendly Four Quartet are presented during the Sun-Telegraph Nite Club of the Air on WCAE tonight at 11 o'clock. Pat Haley is master of ceremonies.

Latest news flashes are relayed four times daily to WCAE listeners by Louis L. Kaufman, Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News. He is on the air at 9:05 a. m., 12:15 p. m., 2:30 p. m. and 6:30 p. m.

A special program for the youngsters is presented under the direction of Jane A. White during the Sun-Telegraph Family broadcast on WCAE from 4:15 to 5:15 today.

Vacation facilities and problems are discussed during a travel talk on WCAE tomorrow morning at 10:30.

Penna. Democrats to Play Leading Role

—By MARK SHIELDS—

CHICAGO, June 20.—On more than one score the Pennsylvania delegates to the Democratic National Convention will occupy a front row in whatever controversies arise. The Pennsylvania Republicans took the spotlight on the prohibition fight and in the somewhat anti-climatic nomination of Vice President Curtis. The Pennsylvania Democrats will have a large say in whatever fight is made over the permanent chairmanship, the presidential nomination and prohibition.

Mr. Shields

According to all available information the national forces supporting Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, for the presidential nomination intend to accede as little as possible to the demands of anti-prohibitionists in fashioning a plank on this subject. They wish to go no further than the ideas of Senator Bingham, rejected by the Republicans, and would prefer not to get that far.

In the case, what will Pennsylvania do? Joseph F. Guffey is the Roosevelt leader in Pennsylvania. He controlled the Democratic state convention last month, which rejected John Collins as state chairman and replaced him with Warren Van Dyke.

* * *

Repeal Declaration Hard to Repudiate

In that same convention David L. Lawrence, Allegheny County Democratic chairman and close associate of Guffey, presented a resolution putting the Democrats on record for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. It will be difficult for the Democratic convention delegates to back away from that unanimous declaration, and it will be especially difficult for Guffey and Lawrence to repudiate it through the votes of delegates they control.

It could be done, of course, the delegates claiming they were not bound by the state committee action, yet that session was tied directly with the Roosevelt movement, and the whole issue between Van Dyke and Collins was Roosevelt and Al Smith. Everything that was done was placarded as something advantaging the New York Governor.

Pennsylvania's stand on the presidency is a cause for much speculation. The best opinion in the circumstances is that approximately 50 votes will go for Roosevelt on the first ballot, out of 76. Much depends on the action of the six Allegheny County delegates in districts where Smith received more primary votes than Roosevelt.

* * *

Roosevelt Delegates In Embarrassing Place

These delegates unquestionably are in an embarrassing position. They favor Roosevelt, but they signed the primary statement agreeing to by "all honorable means" further the nomination of the candidates receiving the most votes.

"All honorable means" would hardly include putting the whole issue in the hands of Lawrence for decision, no matter how honorable the chairman is. It is not a question for him to decide, but was determined by the voters. Yet one of the six delegates in this position told me two weeks ago that he and his associates were "leaving all that to our county chairman, Mr. Lawrence, and he will decide what we shall do."

I think the delegate spoke a bit too embracingly. I do not believe that it is the sentiment of the entire sextet, but that there would be some self-determination on this subject.

On the temporary chairmanship, if there is a fight between Jouett Shouse, on the Smith side, and Senator Thomas J. Walsh, on the Roosevelt side, the lines between Roosevelt and Smith for the presidential nomination will not govern. The six Allegheny delegates before mentioned would be perfectly free to vote for Walsh, and probably would. Contradictorily, it is not doubted E. J. Lynett, of Scranton, delegate-at-large, pledged to Roosevelt, would vote for Shouse, and there would be others like him.

The Pennsylvania delegation is a grand prize in the ever controversial question, and its votes will be eagerly dickered for. Practically every presidential candidate already has headquarters opened in Chicago, and in each the first topic of discussion with any Pennsylvanian is what Pennsylvania will do.

To that there can be no conclusive answer, because Pennsylvania itself does not know. It is difficult to draw a definition about a party such as the Democrats in Pennsylvania, the leadership of which too often—locally in the larger cities—exists only as a patronage affair, an adventure in expediency, and has little to fear in the way of reprisal from Democrats for whatever it does.

Zionists Re-Elect Dr. Lichtenstein

Dr. M. B. Lichtenstein was re-elected president of Zionist Region No. 5, comprising Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia, at a meeting in the Y. M. and W. H. A. yesterday. Other officers named were Morris Neaman, Pittsburgh; Dr. O. L. Polk, Braddock, and Abe Cohen, Uniontown, vice presidents; I. Swiss, Pittsburgh, secretary, and Max Azen, Pittsburgh, treasurer.

RAIL CROSSING CRASH FATAL TO DRIVER

Woman Dies, 2 Escape When Machines Collide, Upset; Infant Passenger Hurt

A fracture of the skull, suffered when his automobile collided with a train at the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing in Dixon street, Homestead, last night, caused the death of Andrew Polka, 22, 1219 Ann street, Homestead. Joseph Masonasky, 21, also of Homestead, a passenger in the automobile, was confined in his home with shock.

Mrs. Ellen Harding, 66, of Smithfield, Pa., died in McKeesport Hospital of injuries received while riding in an automobile driven by her son, John, which collided with a car driven by J. B. Flowers, of Waynesburg, Pa., near Elizabeth. Both cars overturned, but neither driver was seriously hurt, police said.

George Bates, 32, Negro, of Hawkins avenue, Braddock, died in Columbia Hospital of injuries received when his automobile got beyond control in the Fern Hollow Bridge and struck the bridge railing. Iney Ashford, Negro, also of Braddock, a passenger in the car, is in Columbia Hospital with slight injuries, police said.

John Snyder, infant son of William J. Snyder, of 3217 Universal street, was cut by flying glass when a ball struck a window in his father's car while it was being driven in Sarah street near South Twenty-sixth street. Mike Walojko, 17, of 2814 Sarah street, and Byron Shaw, 17, of 2810½ Sarah street, who were playing ball on the street. The boys were each fined $5 in Morals Court today.

Two men and two boys were injured when the truck in which they were riding skidded and went down an embankment in Penn Township. They were F. V. Mosbey, 58, of 7230 Roosevelt street, Penn Township; his sons, Simon, 13, and Jake, 9, and Albert Blake, 67, of 505 East Euclid avenue, Pittsburgh. Ed Mosbey, 18, nephew of the injured man, and driver of the truck, was uninjured. The injured were taken to Columbia Hospital.

Fatal Automobile Mishaps Drop Here

A decline of 18.6 per cent in fatal automobile accidents in Pittsburgh during the first five months of this year as compared to the same period last year, is shown in the monthly report of the Bureau of Traffic Planning. The report shows a total of six fatal accidents in May, bringing the total for the year to 57. Last month's record was a decline of 70 per cent over May, 1931.

Non-fatal traffic accidents also decreased during May, with 235 reported, compared to 379 in May, 1931. Of this number, 114 resulted in property damage only, and 121 involved personal injury to 208 persons.

32 New Cases Put Under Quarantine

The City Department of Health today reports these new cases in quarantine: Scarlet fever, 9; measles, 13; whooping cough, 5; mumps, 1, and pneumonia, 4.

SISTERS SLAIN, BURNED

KNOXVILLE, Ia., June 20.—(AP.)—The charred bodies of Letitia and Jennie Keefer, elderly spinsters, were found in the dinroom of their lonely farm home near here at 7 a. m. today by a neighbor.

Four empty rifle shells found in the dining room indicated the women had been shot to death and their bodies burned.

A hole about five feet across had been burned through the floor, precipitating parts of the bodies into the basement.

Emmet Hollingshead, a neighbor, who went to the Keefer home this morning, was unable to get any reply to his calls. He broke in the door and found the bodies.

The women were between 60 and 70 years old. They had lived alone on the farm for several years and were reputed to have kept a sum of money about the place, leading to a belief that the motive for the crime was robbery.

Takes Poison After Row With Husband

Alleged to have taken poison following a quarrel with her husband, Mrs. Lillian Seng, 24, of 2043 Chateau street, was reported recovering today in St. John's Hospital. She and her husband, Felix, were charged by police with disorderly conduct.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

SANTA MONICA, Cal., June 20.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Mr. Hoover says he is not going out and electioneer for the job. That's kinder like a pitcher saying: "I don't need to even warm up against this team." I believe if someone of the Democratic candidates would say the same thing, he would be nominated. For the Democrats have lost many an election between June and November. This is one year that the more a man promises the less he will be believed. Voters are not going to vote for a man this years with any hope of him helping 'em any. They are just going to vote for him for—well, I don't believe they will even go to the trouble of voting. They have lost everything else so they are afraid they might lose their vote. Yours, WILL.

RAIN DRENCHES PARTS OF CITY

Temporary respite from the heat was granted Pittsburghers early today following a freak electrical and rainstorm which touched portions of the city last night.

Sylvester Holzer and Betty Ernest, of 607 Arlington avenue, reported that during the storm a pigeon on their roof was killed by lightning. The house was not damaged.

Heavy rain, accompanied by lightning and thunder, fell in the East End while in other parts of the city and in the North Boroughs the rainfall was light.

Mellon Sets Stone For East End Church

2,000 Attend Rites; Clergymen Make Addresses

Ceremonies attending the placing of the cornerstone of the new $3,000,000 East Liberty Presbyterian Church, Penn and Highland avenues, were held yesterday with prominent Pittsburghers and Presbyterian Church leaders participating.

R. B. Mellon, who, with his wife, is giving the church to the congregation, and Ralph Adams Cram, of Cram and Ferguson, Boston architects, put the stone in place. About 2,000 persons attended.

CLERGYMEN SPEAK

The Rev. W. L. McEwan, pastor emeritus of the Third Presbyterian Church, and dean of the clergy of the Presbytery, was the principal speaker. The Rev. A. R. Robinson, pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian Church, delivered the invocation. The Rev. Stuart Nye Hutchison and the Rev. William F. Reber, of the East Liberty church, also participated.

Prior to the ceremonies the carillon of the Calvary Episcopal Church, East Liberty, played in tribute from 4:45 to 5 p. m.

The cornerstone contains all the articles found in that of the old church, erected in 1887, copies of Pittsburgh newspapers containing stories of the church's construction, portraits of all former ministers of the congregation and other historical data.

The edifice is the fifth church to be erected on the site during the last 100 years and its donors are the grandchildren of the congregation's founders, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Negley.

In addition to the auditorium, seating 2,000 persons, the building will contain a large assembly room with stage and dressing rooms, a cafeteria and a mission for wayfarers, with a chapel, showers, lunch counter and dormitories. A parish house and Sunday School building also will be erected. The structure, Gothic in style, will be completed within 18 months.

Democratic Year Unless Orators Work Too Hard

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

This is a Democratic year as sure as fresh drummers flirt with boarding house waitresses.

Provided that the Jeffersonians get together and forget their old habit of training cuckoos to scream like eagles.

The trouble with the Democrats is that they are all good orators.

They talk too much and then blame one another for the results.

Remember when Jonah said to the whale:

"If you hadn't opened your mouth I wouldn't be in this fix."

Jonah must have been the first Democrat.

Another thing is that the Democrats string out their conventions until they forget what it is all about.

They could learn from the Republicans, who were in and out again like a man taking a cold shower.

And that affair in Chicago was a cold shower.

THREE RESCUE CREWS WORK 5 HOURS

Child Dragged From Ohio By Father, Former City Lifeguard; Pool Not Open

An hour after he had left his home to join two companions at play, the almost lifeless body of William (Buddy) Cline, 7, of 124 Earl street, was pulled from the Ohio River at the foot of Kelford street by his father, Harry Cline, a former city lifeguard.

The boy died after three rescue crews from the police department, Duquesne Light Company and the Mine Safety Appliances Company worked more than five hours in an attempt to revive the spark of life revealed by a hasty examination after he had been taken from the river.

The Kelford street pool, one of those under city supervision, had not been opened for the season and no lifeguard was present at the time of the tragedy.

Cline learned of the accident from one of Buddy's companions, who hurried to the Cline home two blocks away, and said:

"Buddy's in the river."

A short time after Cline's arrival at the pool, where in past seasons he has rescued between 25 and 30 children, he located the body of his son.

400 TO TESTIFY IN TAX QUIZ

One of the longest parades of witnesses ever trotted before a grand jury in Allegheny County got under way today when investigation was begun into wholesale purchase of tax receipts for the last September primary election.

The grand jury began to hear the first of more than 400 witnesses who have been sumpenaed after hearing instructions from Judge Elder W. Marshall, who ordered the investigation at the request of District Attorney Andrew T. Park.

In explaining the act which forbids unauthorized wholesale purchases of tax receipts, Judge Marshall said:

"The purpose of the act was to prevent politicians from wholesale purchases of tax receipts by organized political parties."

Judge Marshall then instructed the jury that it might find indictments on charges of conspiracy, false registration and perjury.

District Attorney Park has announced that among those to be questioned will be Howard Neely, chairman of the Fourth Ward, which is controlled by State Senator James J. Coyne and Thomas D. Jones, who, besides being a police magistrate and alderman, is a ward chairman.

Neely, who was fired from a state job recently by Gov. Pinchot, was accused of buying almost 4,000 tax receipts.

Street Wall, Work of One Councilman, Saves Crash

A retaining wall which Councilman J. C. Zwingler, of McKeesport, had erected without the permission of his associates, bringing him considerable censure, was credited today with having prevented a probably fatal automobile crash.

The wall, on a curve and grade of Ramaine avenue, stopped the automobile of Nick J. Rakoski, of Warren, O., when the driver failed to judge the curve. But for the wall the car would have dropped 50 feet into Fifth avenue, police said.

Rakoski, DeMitro Krow and his wife, Katie, of 724 Sarah street, Pittsburgh, suffered cuts and bruises.

Councilman Zwingler, it was said, asked Council to build the wall, but when no action resulted had it erected on his own initiative.

DOUBLE SHIFT AT WORK ON HUGE DAM

Two Tent Cities Erected For Men on Pymatuning Project; Building Lake

JAMESTOWN, Pa., June 20.—An army of workmen working two 10-hour shifts daily is rapidly going forward on the huge Pymatuning Dam, a $2,800,000 project, which, when completed in June, 1933, will have 70 miles of shore line and form the largest artificial lake in Pennsylvania.

Work on the dam began last September 11, and at the present time the course of the Beaver and Shenango Rivers has been changed, acres of heavily wooded swamp land cleared, and drains and outlets for the huge lake laid.

950 GIVEN JOBS

At work on the clearing project are 950 men under the direction of water and power resources division of the Department of Forests and Water. Ralph J. Harris is the superintendent. Labor Camp No. 1, Espyville, typical of the many camps on the site, has 75 tents and 450 men. As the workmen cut into the wild timber land, scores of wild animals have been captured. Deer, foxes, 'possums and other animals will be turned over to state game reserves.

LUMBER FOR SALE

Thousands of feet of lumber taken from the region will be sold to the highest bidder upon completion of the work.

The dam is to be made of earthwork. The contract is held by C. R. Cummins, Inc., of Cleveland. When completed it will be 2,400 feet acres and 50 feet high.

The lake which the dam will bank will hold 1,000,000,000 cubic feet of water from the Shenango River and will be about the size of Lake Chautauqua. The lake will cover what was formerly a relatively useless swamp.

UNDERPASSES CONSTRUCTED TO CARRY SHENANGO BENEATH CONSTRUCTION WORK FOR PYMATUNING BREASTWORKS

The concrete channels into which has been forced the Shenango River, soon to fill the Pymatuning Dam with its 10 billion cubic feet of water for a 70-miles-of-water-front lake in Crawford County. When the dam is finished the underpasses will control the water volume. The project employs men in two 10-hour shifts, will cost $2,800,000, will be finished by June, 1933. WYOMING, Pa., June 20.—(AP.)—Caught "black-handed," J. Clarence Thonan, 57, faced charges of extortion today. The police had suspected him of trying to extort $15,000 from Harry L. Magee, of Bloomsburg, Pa., carpet manufacturer. So they soaked a dummy package in silver nitrate, which leaves an indelible stain on the hands, and dropped it from a plane on Hunlock Mountain.

Later they arrested Thonan. He confessed six extortion plots, they said.

'BONUS OR JOB' EDITORIAL PRAISED

Taxpayers Join Veterans in Backing Demand Made in Sun-Telegraph Article

Telegrams and letters indorsing the stand of the Sun-Telegraph, and the other Hearst newspapers, for "jobs or bonus" for war veterans are being received from ex-service men, from veterans' organizations and from taxpayers with no war service.

Among the messages received is a telegram from the Greater Pittsburgh Chapter No. 8, Disabled American Veterans of the World War.

The message, signed by Norman A. Robinson, commander, follows:

"Greater Pittsburgh Chapter No. 8, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, by resolution sincerely thank you for your untiring efforts in behalf of all World War veterans."

'THE AMERICAN PAPER'

Other messages received follow in part:

Guy C. Douglas, commander, Twenty-fourth District Pennsylvania, Veterans of Foreign Wars:

"I have just read the last page of your paper today, headed 'What About the Veterans?' and must say this is a purely American publication and am glad to know that we have someone who is square enough to put this matter before the people in a way that will remind them of their duty to the ex-service men."

J. A. Pengra, merchandise broker, Bessemer Building, Pittsburgh:

"As a citizen I have paid property and income taxes a good many years—I wish to thank you and congratulate you on the back page editorial of yesterday."

G. N. McMahon, 1912 Kearns avenue, Crafton:

"Let me try to express my sincere gratefulness to you and your paper for what you have done for the veterans. At the Al G. Baker Post No. 86, we spoke of you and your writers a month or more ago and everyone agreed that the Sun-Telegraph was The American Newspaper."

LAUDED BY AGED WOMAN.

Mrs. Laura McCombs, Venetia, Pa.:

"I have just finished reading the 'Bonus or a Job' editorial. In all my life of nearly 80 years I have never read anything that gave me such varied emotions and pleasure mingled as this article."

Martin E. Mullen, ex-service man, 1234 Kelton avenue, Dormont:

"Permit me to congratulate you and the Sun-Telegraph upon the full page editorial on the ex-service men's bonus question. May I say that you have summed up the entire situation perfectly."

John J. Clark, 146 Kirkpatrick avenue, Leechburg:

"I wish to congratulate your paper on its editorial, 'The Bonus or a Job.' I am mailing five copies of your editorial to United States Senators and hope they will realize the truth written in such a fearless manner."

ILL VETERAN GRATEFUL

Harry V. Beatty, Universal, Pa.:

"I am a World War veteran. I am down with tuberculosis and only draw $40 a month. I have $632 more back service pay coming and I could sure use it. I am telling you this so you may realize when I say thanks to the Hearst papers for helping our cause, I am doing it from the bottom of my heart."

William G. Blough, adjutant, 111th Infantry Veterans' Association, Pittsburgh:

"In behalf of the 1,800 members of this organization—and I'm sure there are a million others who will concur with me in this—I want to thank the Hearst publications for their magnificent editorial, "The Bonus or a Job," appearing in your paper of June 8."

BROKER TO BACK TUBE PRICE CUT

C. C. Hamilton, real estate broker, who has been granted a hearing Thursday by County Commissioners to explain what authority he has to offer the Wabash bridge and tunnel at $2,550,000, a reduction of $450,000, has declared he will be there with others to support his offer.

Hamilton's offer, which was said to be "entirely unauthorized" by F. E. Taplin, president of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railway, is said to have come from J. F. Haley, Niles (O.) contractor, who, according to Hamilton, represents a controlling interest among the bondholders of the railroad.

Haley, Hamilton said, has promised to be present at the Thursday hearing.

BUYER'S GUIDE AND BUSINESS REVIEW

BOND MARKET RELATIVELY STEADY

End of Gold Export Aids U. S. Issues; German Group Up; Corporates Mark Time

NEW YORK, June 20.—(AP.) — Despite considerable irregularity in various groups, the bond market averages closed the past week with a slight net gain over the preceding period.

A number of uncertainties in the economic and political fields tended to hold the market down to a relatively steady gait. Outside of German and United States government issues, which lead in volume and firmness, there were no outstanding performers in either the domestic or foreign sections.

Little urgent selling was apparent, although there was no disposition to acquire any heavy additional commitments.

GOLD STANDARD SECURE

Those close to the bankers' bond-buying consortium say that this organization, with its $100,000,000 capital, has been unable to acquire any large blocks of loans because of the extreme thinness of the market. The fact that this corporation is waiting to pick up bargains, however, is having a generally stabilizing effect on prices.

The government list picked up following the announcement that foreign withdrawals of gold from America had practically come to an end with the United States still leading the world in its holdings of the precious metal. Financiers declared that the gold standard was more secure than ever.

GERMANS IN DEMAND

Hope for some constructive outcome of the Lausanne conference brought a demand for German issues. It is felt that the reparations problem may be clarified and the European nations may decide on a closer degree of cooperation.

In the meantime railroad, utility and industrial bonds, as a rule, have been marking time.

Both French and British loans eased during the week as the currencies of these countries gave ground to the American dollar.

COPPER MARKET UNCHANGED

NEW YORK, June 20.—Domestic buying of copper, stimulated by the imposition of a 4-cent import duty effective June 21, tapered off and the market became quiet with sellers still asking 5⅜ cents for nearby electrolytic delivered in the Connecticut Valley. Unofficial reports of decreased domestic shipments and increasing stocks had a restricting influence and consumers held off. A fair export business was reported.

Tin fluctuated irregularly, influenced by London and sterling exchange. Mid-week declines uncovered better consumers' interest with inquiries reported for forward shipment.

Lead continued at unchanged prices, consumer buying and smelter intake still being in balance. Increased stocks at the end of May are expected to be reduced in June owing to curtailed smelting and mining operations.

Poor demand for zinc was said to be counterbalanced by firmness of ore.

Antimony quotations were nominally reduced, but buyers remained out of the market.

CHART CURVES FLATTENING

NEW YORK, June 20.—(AP.)—While most business barometers in the past week showed activity at lowest ebb in more than a decade, the weekly mercantile reviews reported that retail buying was showing surprising strength under the circumstances.

Moreover, the graphic charted records of business trends, kept on a day-to-day schedule, indicated that the prolonged decline of over two years was once more showing some signs of "flattening out." The decline in commodity prices, despite a further break in wheat prices, was tempered by price advances in sugar and gasoline. The downward drift of heavier manufacturing lines was materially softened by a slight increase in automobile manufacturing and in structural steel orders.

CHECK ON GOLD FLOW AIDS TRADE

Business Indicators Drop To New Low Levels as Credit Slump Continues

NEW YORK, June 20.—Security markets have been steadied and financial anxieties soothed by forecasts of cessation of the gold outflow, says the Business Week, despite the fundamental fact that the increased value of the dollar abroad and at home puts additional handicaps on our export trade and further pressure on commodity prices, both now relapsed to pre-war levels. Although temporary removal of this alibi for inaction and hopeful expectations of favorable results from Lausanne have brightened sentiment somewhat, member credit contraction continues at a drastic rate and leading business indicators have dropped to new low levels.

Structural steel requirements have risen under stimulation of public construction, but steel activity and coal output have dropped to dismal depths. Merchandise carloadings also have declined with the sharp recession of retail trade under pressure of curtailed consumer purchasing power and employment. Improvement in electric power production and check payments, however, have helped sustain the surprisingly stationary position of our general business index during the past three months.

Uncertainty regarding relief legislation and congressional adjournment, as well as the outcome of European conferences and the domestic political campaign still overshadows the summer outlook, but the prospect for further procrastination in comprehensive, co-operative action on all important issues is as favorable as ever for those who feel that they can safely be left to the laissez-faire.

With a preliminary reading of 56.7 for the week ended June 11, The Business Week's index showed a slight rise from the revised reading of 55.9 for the previous week. It registered 78.6 for the week ended June 13, 1931.

Stock Market Now Needs Good News to Go Ahead

NEW YORK, June 20.—(INS.)—The market enters a new week trying to get a toehold for a fresh start after seeing most of its improvement wiped out last week. The digging-in process was apparent on Saturday, for stocks could have had another slump with Auburn and Sears, Roebuck falling out of bed, indicating they were meeting further support. The feeling is the market may go a little lower, that it's a bad one to go short of and that it needs good news to go ahead.

Strength in American Telephone on Saturday was attributed to short covering due to the stock's going ex-dividend today. Declaration of Gen. Dawes that the worst was over made a favorable impression in Wall street, since the general doesn't go in for ballyhoo.

At least one thing is certain in the petroleum situation, that the days of unrestricted production are over. The oil producing states are determined that this will not recur, and their curtailment laws recently received the blessing of the United States Supreme Court.

A new big field would upset things some, but would probably be taken in hand very quickly, though the old ones would have to cut down further. It was about a year ago that the demoralization in crude and gasoline prices was in full swing, so that oil company earnings for the second quarter should make a better showing than in the first.

GAS REVENUES INCREASE

NEW YORK, June 20.—Revenues of manufactured and natural gas utilities totaled $58,929,472 in April as compared with $62,686,965 in April, 1931, a decline of 6 per cent, according to reports of the American Gas Association from 405 companies serving 14,102,466 customers and representing more than 90 per cent of the public utility distribution of manufactured and natural gas.

Revenues of manufactured gas companies amounted to $33,219,682, a decline of 3 per cent from April of last year. Natural gas utilities reported revenues of $25,709,790 for April, a drop of about 9 per cent from a year ago.

Sales of manufactured gas for April amounted to 31,585,383,000 cubic feet, a decline of 2.5 per cent; while natural gas utility sales totaled 58,704,285,000 cubic feet, a decline of 13.1 per cent.

In New York State, sales of manufactured gas during the month showed a gain of 1.2 per cent.

PENN MUTUAL HAS STEADY GROWTH

Anniversary of 85 Years Of Operation Celebrated By Pittsburgh Agency

In the last four years the Pittsburgh office of the Penn-Mutual Life Insurance Company, celebrating its eighty-fifth anniversary this month, has shown a remarkable growth in its sales organization, according to Holgar Johnson, general agent for this territory.

In 1928, when Mr. Johnson succeeded James C. Biggert, who had been president of the Pittsburgh office for 52 years, three small rooms, with a floor space of 800 square feet in the Vandergrift Building on Fourth avenue, was sufficient for the small organization consisting of three salesmen and two clerks.

SPACE INCREASED

In four years, the floor space in the Clark Building has been increased to 3,500 square feet, with a sales force of more than 100 men, and a clerical force of 15. The volume of business has increased from $168,000 to $7,300,000 annually. Branches in Wheeling, Erie, Johnstown and Altoona represent a 50 per cent territorial expansion. The number of policy holders has grown from 7,300 to 17,000 in four years, Mr. Johnson said. He continued:

"During the last 85 years, this company, like the institution of life insurance itself, has passed through at least seven major and seven minor economic disturbances, some even more serious than the present one. During these trying periods, the institution of life insurance has always fulfilled its obligations to the public. It has been weighed in the balance, and has not been found wanting.

"It has stood up under pressure and will continue to do so, because of the inherent nature of the business. Bank savings are comparatively easy to withdraw. Life insurance is the last thing a man or woman will let go. The current incomes of life insurance are more than sufficient, even under such abnormal conditions as we are experiencing."

FORMED IN 1847

The Penn Mutual was organized on May 25, 1847. John W. Hornor opened an office at 91 Walnut street, Philadelphia, with 65 companions. Their purpose was to insure one another and any others who might join them against the losses which would be occasioned by their deaths. In 85 years the membership has grown from 65 to 360,000. The office force numbers 1,000 and there are 4,000 agents in the field. Five home office buildings have been outgrown and the seventh president is in the chair, Mr. Johnston said.

TOBACCO'S NET ABOVE 1931

NEW YORK, June 20.—Despite some falling off in sales in the first half of 1932, earnings of American Tobacco Co. have been running above 1931. Not all American Tobacco products are showing declines in line with general tobacco consumption. Smoking tobaccos are doing well; Bull Durham, with the benefit of a price cut last summer, is running some 3½ times sales of a year ago; pipe brands are also ahead.

Cigaret sales a year ago were gaining competitively, so the present decline from 1930 is not so severe as from 1931. Toward the end of 1931, sales of Lucky Strike began more closely to reflect a drop in consumption, and the company hopes that sales comparisons with the second half of 931 will be more favorable than with the first half.

Contributing to the increase in profits in the first half have been lower leaf tobacco costs and a cigaret price increase. The latter factor will not be operating in the second half, because comparison will be with a period when the cigaret price level was the same.

Shoe Makers Report Retail Stocks Low

LYNN, Mass., June 20.—Shoe manufacturers report additional orders for summer shoes and early inquiries for fall shoes, indicating that stocks are low in stores. Prices show no change and bulk of new business is in low-price lines.

Industrial Leaders Favor Cuts in Hours Of Industrial Week

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

OPINION OF INDUSTRIAL leaders is crystalizing in the belief that business must adopt a shorter working week as a permanent policy for the future.

It is well known that, even at the peak of prosperity in 1929, this country had an unemployment problem. Steadily increasing industrial efficiency had made it possible for fewer men and women to take care of market requirements. Technological unemployment was one of the vital questions facing industry even in its last prosperous days. There were more workers than jobs and better machinery was the responsible factor.

The present depression has focused attention on the unemployment problem. But the realization is steadily growing that we do not have merely an emergency situation to meet. We have a lasting problem of more workers than jobs in good times. A shorter working week offers a solution of the permanent problem as well as an ameliorating influence for the emergency.

* * *

Working Time Actually Has Been Curtailed

TO A CERTAIN extent industry has been reducing the working week for many years. In addition, entirely new industries have been developed to take up the slack in the labor market created by new machinery. The 12-hour day, at one time common in the steel industry, vanished several years ago. Similar changes have taken place in other types of activity. The radio and the automobile may be numbered among the new industries which have created jobs for workers displaced by machinery in other fields.

Apparently, however, the working week was not reduced enough and new industries were not developed rapidly enough to keep pace with the displacement of men by machinery. This created one of the weak points in the prosperity of 1928 and 1929 and may have been a major contributing factor to the collapse of business and credit.

* * *

Teagle Favors Cut In Employment Hours

ONE OF THE MOST PROMINENT industrial leaders who has taken a strong stand in favor of permanent reduction in working hours has been Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. The American Federation of Labor also has declared such a policy to be necessary for a permanent adjustment between jobs and men.

Under present conditions, a major share of workers are employed on a part-time basis. With the recovery of business, if industry does not expand working time all the way back to the original level, but starts to add more employes after average time has increased to perhaps 40 hours a week, the correction of the emergency unemployment situation will be hastened and an important step will be taken toward eliminating permanent technological unemployment. Reduced living costs will not make such a program as difficult for the individual at present as it would have been a few years ago since the reduction in weekly incomes will be compensated for by lower prices.

Wholesale and Jobbing Trade Conditions

NEW YORK, June 20.—(AP.)—Tabloid review of wholesale and retail business conditions and the state of crops as reported to Bradstreet's last week from the following centers, on the basis of comparisons with conditions in the same areas in the corresponding week last year:

Pittsburgh—Wholesale and retail seasonal lines active; municipal building on; steel production declines.

Chicago—Political convention stimulates general trade; very little steel buying; lumber movement fair.

Cleveland—Paint manufacturers active, with outlook optimistic; ingot production sags, due to fewer auto orders.

BLANK FOES 37 OF LAST 40 INNINGS

IN WINNING THREE of their last four games, the Pirates presented a grade of pitching not excelled by the staff of any other club in either of the major circuits. In the four games, one of them going 11 innings, the Buc flingers allowed only five runs and 20 hits, holding the opposition to five safeties in each event. Counting in the final two rounds of the New York game on June 11, the Pittsburgh moundsmen were scored on in only three of the last 40 innings pitched up to today.

Remy Kremer

Even in the one game lost, Remy Kremer showed evidence of an arrival at form that adds another ace to the Gibson corps, making the Corsairs look capable of holding their own against any foe in the dizzy pennant fight. The Bucs are in an even better position than their ranking of third indicates. In the "Lost" column they are second, and only one defeat behind the leading Cubs. They have lost fewer games than any other club in either league except the Bruins and Yankees. And it's the "Lost" column that counts.

A FAMILIAR OLD name, long missing from the baseball prints, stands out in a lineup that will take the field for an old-timers' game in Los Angeles Saturday. It is that of Dr. Warren Gill. Remember Gill? Of course you do. His name will always hold a note of particular interest to veteran fans, particularly those in Pittsburgh.

For one thing, Gill will be recalled as a former first baseman of the Pirates, but chiefly he will be remembered as the player who pulled the famous Merkle play even before Merkle himself. The only difference was that on the second occasion the umpire happened to be looking and Merkle got caught.

WHEN JOE NEALON failed to report back to Pittsburgh in 1908, the Pirates tried several new first basemen in his place. One of them was Gill, along with Harry Swacina, Jimmy Kane and Alan Storke.

Merkle's famous failure to touch second base was chronicled on September 23, 1908. Gill pulled the same thing 19 days earlier, or on September 4, at old Exposition Park in a game against Chicago, a game in which Vic Willis and Three-Finger Brown pitched a double shutout for nine innings. It was an important battle in the greatest three-cornered pennant struggle the National League has ever known. The Giants, in first place, were only half a game ahead of the Pirates and one game ahead of the Cubs.

AFTER WILLIS HAD blanked the Cubs again in the tenth frame, the Pirates filled the bases with one out in their half. Fred Clarke was on third, Honus Wagner on second and Gill on first. Ed Abbaticchio fanned for the second out, but Chief Wilson followed with a single to right to bring Clarke home with the winning run. Gill, instead of going to second, turned and ran for the clubhouse. The Cubs had been waiting for weeks for that particular play, it became known afterward, so immediately Johnny Evers called for the ball, stepped on the keystone bag and claimed a force out for the third out, on the ground that Gill had not touched second.

Hank O'Day

THE OUT WOULD have retired the side and the game would have stood at a scoreless deadlock at the end of the tenth inning instead of being a 1-to-0 victory for Pittsburgh. The Cubs' smart play was wasted, however, as Hank O'Day, the sole umpire of the afternoon, ended all arguments and killed a protest by admitting he had turned his back and had not seen what occurred.

Less than three weeks later, in New York, the Cubs pulled the same play on Merkle. This time O'Day was looking, Merkle was called out and it cost the Giants the pennant eventually. Had Hank been on the alert in the first instance, the thing would have gone into the boner book as the Gill play, instead of the Merkle play. Merkle's offense was chiefly in failing to remember the Gill incident when up against the same opponents and with the same umpire in charge.

THE BOSTON AMERICANS can hardly be improved to any extent by the change in management, with Shauno Collins throwing up his job in despair and Marty McManus drawing the doubtful distinction of being appointed to succeed him.

No manager could do much with a club so weak as to lose 46 of its first 57 games. Only once this season did the Red Sox win two games in succession. An owner can't expect to win ball games after selling what few good players he had. The poor showing was due to the weakness of the club and not to the way Collins handled it. You can't get blood out of a turnip.

THOSE WHO HAVE enough faith left in Jack Sharkey to risk another guess on him to win tomorrow night, are basing their conclusions largely on the fact that he had a big lead up to the time of the foul in his first meeting with Max Schmeling. They may be attaching too much importance to Sharkey's edge on that occasion. A big lead in the early rounds does not always mean victory. Sharkey had a similar advantage over Dempsey, only to be knocked out. So did Corbett over Fitzsimmons, Fitzsimmons over Jeffries, Corbett over Jeffries and Stribling over Schmeling. Ketchel, after trailing from the start, knocked O'Brien cold when there wasn't enough time left to count O'Brien out.

THE MOST STRENUOUS sport? The toughest game? The grind that demands more from a man and takes more out of him than any other? You'll see it put on twice this week in the college boat races at Poughkeepsie and New London.

Fighting, wrestling, football, hockey and the rest may have their places on the list of trying sports, but pulling an oar over a four-mile stretch takes the heaviest toll of all. They give all they have, and they've got nothing left at the finish. Often they collapse in the boat when it's all over.

THE BIG RACE at Poughkeepsie is usually an open one, and the main event for eight-oared crews in today's regatta is no exception. On the strength of form shown in training, the majority of the starters have a chance to win.

Ky Ebright

The weight of the dope, however, is considered to indicate that the victor will be found among Penn, Cornell and the crack crew that Coach Ky Ebright has brought East from California.

IN PRACTICE LAST week, both Cornell and California beat the course record of 18 minutes 34 4-5 seconds, which Ebright's oarsmen of 1928 established after Cornell's old mark of 18:53.15 had stood for 27 years. That form promises that both will be near the front at the finish this evening. The Poughkeepsie regatta, under the auspices of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association, had its birth in 1900. The original distance of four miles for the varsity eight-oared race was reduced to two in 1920 because it was considered too strenuous. That year the race was held on Lake Cayuga, N. Y. It was moved back to Poughkeepsie in 1921, and from 1921 to 1924, inclusive, the route was three miles. The four-mile distance was restored in 1925. Since Washington's double victory in 1923-24, no college has won twice in succession. The race went to Navy in 1925, Washington in 1926, Columbia in 1927, California in 1928, Columbia in 1929, Cornell in 1930 and Navy last year.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Their pitchers showing a pace unmatched by any club in the game, the Pirates this morning looked out upon the baseball horizon with much promise. Three of George Gibson's star flingers have allowed a total of three runs in the last three games, one of which was an 11-inning affair wherein Steve Swetonic pitched shutout ball.

Heinie Meine

As a result of a thrilling victory over the Dodgers yesterday, the Pirates are less than one game removed from second place. In other words the Buccos could take possession of the runner-up position today in the event of a Boston defeat with the Pittsburghers bringing home the bacon again. The Freebooters are just 3½ games from the league-leading Cubs, who were idle yesterday.

HARRIS TO PITCH

Gibson's Buccos are set for the second battle in the Flatbush scheduled for this afternoon. Bill Harris is likely to draw the slab assignment, Larry French is overdue on the mound, but the big lefthander has been ailing for a few days. Van Mungo, the 20-year-old fast-ball pitcher who tamed the Pirates at Forbes Field a few weeks back is the probable home selection.

Heinie Meine held the Brooklyn swatters to five safeties yesterday and the Buccos came from behind to win, 2-1. Meine's slab performance compared favorably with those of Swetonic, and Remy Kremer in the great double-header staged between the Pirates and Braves in Boston Saturday. After Swetonic had handed the Tribe a whitewash defeat, Kremer went to the danger zone and proceeded to blank the Braves on two hits through eight sizzling innings.

Boss Gibson had to do some quick switching to salt away the contest of yesterday. The Dodgers had the fight in their dugout with the only run of the struggle as the eighth opened. Pie Traynor's single put the invaders out in front in this inning and Bill Swift and Tommy Padden were hurried to the scene to hold the fort. Comorosky batted for Meine in the round, and Earl Grace, who opened the victory push with a hit, made way for Pinch-runner Hal Finney.

CLARK HURLS WELL

Watson Clark, clever lefthander, and Meine painted five rounds of runless pitching before the Dodgers broke the spell in the sixth. Mickey Finn bunted safely as a start and Stripp sacrificed. Wilson fouled out, and Cuccinello walked and Bad Man O'Doul came along with an important single to score the run.

Grace opened the eighth with a single and Finney ran for him. Comorosky batted for Meine and sacrificed. L. Waner drew a base on balls and Brother Paul came through with a single that scored Finney. Vaughan forced Paul as Lloyd went to second. The Buccos took the lead on Traynor's single, scoring L. Waner.

GOB ARRIVES IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, June 20.—(INS.)—Deserting his training camp at Orangeburg, Jack Sharkey was quartered in a New York hotel today, awaiting the gong tomorrow for his fight against Max Schmeling, the heavyweight champion.

Jack boxed four rounds with sparring mates on Sunday and weighed 202 pounds when he jumped into a shower.

"I'll knock out Maxie with a punch on the chin this time," Sharkey predicted after his final workout at Orangeburg.

Schmeling remains a 6-5 favorite in the betting on Broadway. The latest cut in ticket prices has stimulated the sale somewhat and it is estimated that the receipts will range from $300,000 to $400,000. The arena will accommodate 77,000, and it is expected about 50,000 seats will have occupants when the big bout gets under way.

MAXIE BREAKS CAMP

KINGSTON, N. Y., June 20.—(INS.)—Max Schmeling will leave his Kingston camp today for New York, a well-conditioned athlete.

This is the opinion of prominent ring figures who watched the heavyweight champion's final workout yesterday for his defense of his title against Jack Sharkey tomorrow night.

Benny Leonard, Tony Canzoneri and Jack Britton were among those who thought Max looked in splendid condition. However, none of the trio would predict a winner.

The champion was to break camp at noon instead of waiting until the morning of the fight, as he did at Endicott two years ago, and view the regatta at Poughkeepsie.

Max expects to return here for a few days of golf after the fight.

FARLEY TO MISS BOUT

CHICAGO, June 20.—(AP.)—James A. Farley, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, will not be present for tomorrow night's championship fight between Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey at Long Island City.

"I have a good enough fight on my hands here," observed Farley in the midst of a busy day directing the Democratic presidential campaign here for Gov. Roosevelt, of New York.

VINES, PERRY, HOPMAN WIN

WIMBLEDON, England, June 20.—(AP.)—Ellsworth Vines, ranking United States tennis player, successfully opened his campaign for the English championship at Wimbledon today, defeating I. Dupliax, a little known French player, in straight sets, 7-5, 6-3, 6-4.

Vines' debut on the famous center court was marked by erratic tennis. The lanky Californian was wild, but always bold and from bad patches of overhitting and netting settled down when the occasion demanded.

Harry Hopman, the Australian Davis Cup star, who constitutes one of the greatest obstacles to an American victory in the men's singles, followed Vines into the second round by defeating J. W. Nuthall, of England, 6-3, 6-1, 8-6.

Fred Perry, of Britain, downed his compatriot, G. O. Jameson, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4.

BRUGNON DEFEATED

The first sensation of the tournament came when Jacques Brugnon, one of the French aces, gave way to a display of temperament and virtually threw away his match with E. D. Andrews, of New Zealand. Brugdon received what he considered a bad decision in the second set and immediately lost interest in the proceedings. Andrews won in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3.

Enrique Maier, Spanish champion, sprang a surprise by defeating Baron De Kehrling, the veteran Hungarian tournament player, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4.

H. W. Austin, British ace, defeated his compatriot, M. A. Young, in straight sets, 6-2, 9-7, 6-3.

KEED BATTLES IN MEYERS BOWL RING

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Kid Chocolate vs. Johnny Farr and Jimmy Belmont vs. Pinky Kaufman (following main bout), 10 rounds each, and Tiger Walker vs. Frankie Bulahan, Steve Senich vs. Fiddie Zivic and Packy McFarland vs. Max Elling, 6 rounds each, Meyers Bowl, North Braddock.

Marty McHale vs. Pee Wee Jarrell, 10 rounds, Zanesville, O.

Jimmy Coyne vs. Eddie Herbst and Sammy Chernoff vs. Eddie Brink, 6 rounds each, Starlight Park, New York.

Maxie Rosenbloom vs. Sammy Weiss (non-title), 10 rounds; Leo Duncan vs. Mike Sullivan, 8 rounds, and Heinie Hart vs. Johnny Canzoneri, 6 rounds, Phillipsburg, N. J.

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

If it's big names the boxing fans want in their bouts, how about the offering scheduled as the windup at Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, tonight, when one Eligio Sardinias will toe the scratch against John Farinacci?

Kid Chocolate

Sardinias is Kid Chocolate. Farinacci is Johnny Farr. They come together from widely separated points, Chocolate having been born in Havana, Cuba, and Farr in Cleveland. The former is a Cuban Negro and the latter an Italian.

So much for their personal histories.

Back in 1926, a little Negro lad began fighting as an amateur in Havana. A skinny, scrawny youth of only 52 pounds, he attracted the attention of a Louis Guttierrez, a Cuban sports writer, who took him under his care.

UNBEATEN AS AMATEUR

As an amateur, over a span of a little more than a year, Chocolate engaged in 100 battles without a defeat, winning 86 of them by the knockout route. Guttierrez turned the lad professional, and, after he had scored 21 more knockouts, brought him to the United States in 1928. Invading New York, a start was made at one of the smaller clubs, and the Keed soon boxed his way, with dazzling speed and skilled, to fame, winning bout after bout by knockout or decision until he was sent against Jack (Kid) Berg, who scored the first decision over him in the latter part of 1930. Since then he has lost only to Fidel La Barba, Battling Battalino and Tony Canzoneri, all holders or former holders of world championships. Meantime he has beaten a succession of topnotchers and last July became a champion himself when he scored a technical knockout victory over Benny Bass in Philadelphia to annex the junior-lightweight title.

COLORFUL BOXER

Chocolate ranks as one of the most pleasing performers in the ring today. His fame is worldwide. He has color, personality, unusual ability. He has made a fortune with his fists, at the age of 25. A far cry from the 152-pound, scrawny Negro lad who battled in those Havana rings. A living true success story of boxing.

As for Farr, he is 29 years old and has been boxing professionally for seven years. A short, chunky fellow, who fought a draw with Andy Martin in the Bowl ring several years ago, he has met most of the good little men of his time, including Ray Miller, Joey Sanger, Carl Tremaine, Louis (Kid) Kaplan, Danny Kramer, Benny Bass, Babe Herman, Eddie Shea, Pete Sarmiento, Jimmy McLarnin, Chick Suggs, Johnny Datto, Jimmy Hill, Ignacio Fernandez, Bud Taylor, Joe Glick, Harry Blitman, Benny (Kid) Carter, Young Nationalista, Billy Wallace, Young Montreal, Pete Nebo, Sammy Fuller, Tony Canzoneri, Steve Smith, Eddie Anderson, Chico Cisneros, Honey Boy Finnegan, Sammy Dorfman, Andy Callahan, Freddie Miller, Bushy Graham and Tommy Paul. He is a rugged mixer.

BELMONT VS. KAUFMAN

A 10-round special bout between Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, and Pinky Kaufman, of New York, will follow tonight's main event. In three six-round preliminaries, Tiger Walker, Negro featherweight, of Zanesville, O., meets Frankie (Battling) Bulahan, Cleveland Filipino, Fritzie Zivic opposes Steve Senich, and Max Elling takes on Packy McFarland.

Between Rounds

Marty McHale, McKeesport welterweight, boxes Pee Wee Jarrell at Zanesville, O., tonight.

Tommy Freeman will have two of his stablemates on the card with him when he boxes Lee Sala at Hickey Park, Millvale, Thursday night. They are Chico Cisneros, who meets Jackie Wilson in another 10-rounder, and Jack Watson, who engages Casey Rhodes in the opener. Ray Jennings, Homestead Negro heavyweight, meets Walter Ketchel in the second bout.

An attempt will be made to match

WEATHER CONDITIONS IDEAL FOR REGATTA

CROWD GATHERS FOR RACES AT POUGHKEEPSIE

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 20.—(AP.)—Weather conditions broke favorably today for the annual intercollegiate championship regatta.

It was partly cloudy, but with little prospect of rain. The river barely rippled under a light downstream breeze in the morning and the sun sparkled on a colorful assembly of yachts and small craft.

There was no lack of enthusiastic support for the big varsity favorites, Syracuse, Cornell, California and Washington, despite the fact that crowds were smaller than at any regatta in the past 10 years.

LITTLE WAGERING

There was very little wagering, however, except on a crew-against-crew basis, because of general conditions as well as the well-matched class in the varsity fleet.

Syracuse's chances were given preference today by bookmakers, who installed the Orange a 3-to-2 favorite. Cornell and California were each 2½ to 1 against, and Washington 4 to 1, with Navy, defending champion, no better than 8 to 1 in the fleet of eight. Pennsylvania was quoted at the same figure, Columbia 10 to 1 and M. I. T. 12 to 1.

NEW RECORD LIKELY

Unless weather conditions turned unexpectedly, prior to the start of the varsity race (scheduled at 7:15 eastern daylight time), coaches expressed conviction the four-mile record of 18:35 4-5, set by California in 1928, would be smashed.

BRUINS GAIN IN NATIONAL

Associated Press.

Take a medium-sized blanket put it over the National League field, and the only clubs that might be left out in the cold would be the Chicago Cubs and the Cincinnati Reds.

Cold figures would put it this way: The Boston Braves, in second place, lead Pittsburgh's Pirates by one game, with the Phillies, Brooklyn Dodgers, St. Louis Cardinals and New York Giants in a virtual tie for fourth place, two games behind the Pirates.

The Cubs, idle yesterday, nevertheless gained ground, their lead going to three and a half games when the Braves succumbed to Silas Johnson and the Reds, 5-0.

Singles by Paul Waner and Pie Traynor in the eighth drove in two runs and gave the Pirates a 2-to-1 decision over Brooklyn. The Cardinals, with Jim Bottomley back at first base, trounced the Giants, 7-0, behind Tex Carleton's two-hit pitching.

The New York Yankees stretched their American League lead to seven and a half games as John Allen blanked the Chicago White Sox on three singles, 1-0.

The Philadelphia Athletics split even with the St. Louis Browns, winning the second game, 6-3, after dropping the opener, 3-2, in 10 innings.

The Cleveland Indians went into third place, displacing Washington's Senators, by tripping the Boston Red Sox twice, 9-3, and 6-3, while Washington was dropping an 8-to-5 decision to the Detroit Tigers.

Stubblefield Wins In Chicago Grind

CHICAGO, June 20.—(AP.)—Stubby Stubblefield, of Los Angeles, yesterday won the Roby Speedway A. A. A. 100-mile race, finishing about a half lap ahead of Al Gordon, of Long Beach, Cal. Stubblefield's time was 1:18:40.2.

Howdy Wilcox, second in the Indianapolis 500-mile race, moved up on Fred Frame, Indianapolis victor, in the championship point total, finishing fourth behind Bill Cummings, Indianapolis, while Frame could do no better than tenth.

TOLEDO, June 20.—(AP.)—Karl Young, Chicago driver, won the 100-mile automobile race at Fort Miami dirt track here yesterday, but cracked up immediately afterward on the turn and suffered minor cuts and a broken finger.

READING, Pa., June 20.—(AP.)—Joe Petrali, Los Angeles, Cal., roared around the Reading Fair Grounds' half-mile speedway yesterday to capture the entire program of three professional motorcycle races. Louis Balinski, Kalamazoo, Mich., was runner-up in the eight-mile feature, and Frank Corliss, Battle Creek, Mich., was third.

Chocolate-Canzoneri Title Go in Making

A Tony Canzoneri-Kid Chocolate bout for the world lightweight championship is in the making, the Long Island City arena next month to replace a proposed Canzoneri-Billy Petrolle match, Louis Guttierrez, manager of Chocolate, announced today upon his arrival from New York a day behind his boxer, who got in yesterday morning. Guttierrez was held over negotiating for the match.

Guttierrez is picking Max Schmeling to defeat Jack Sharkey in their bout tomorrow night "because he's a better fighter.

BAERS RECONCILED

RENO, Nev., June 20.—(INS.)—Romance and prize fighting don't mix well, but everyone was happy here today over the reconciliation between Max Baer, California heavyweight, and his film actress wife, Dorothy Dubar. They kissed and made up.

DORMONT GETS EVEN BREAK

Lefty Richards, the young Dormont southpaw, did not have the valuable assistance of Rhiny Kress, classed as the headiest receiver in the district, for a battery mate at Greenlee Field yesterday afternoon in the second game of the three-game series, and Dormont lost to the Crawfords, 3 to 1, in an abbreviated contest. Richards evidently did not realize the hitting power of Josh Gibson, for he grooved one pitch and the ball landed in the bleachers, a mighty drive.

In the first game, Dormont defeated Homewood, 7 to 3. Homewood took the place of Books, advertised to play. The proceeds of the games went to the Coleman Home for Negro Boys.

Unless the Books crack entirely, the first half City League title is in the well known bag. The Thomas nine will be met at Bloomfield this evening. The leaders have three tough games this week, meeting Dormont at Olympia Park on Thursday and Homewood at the playgrounds on Friday beside the test with the Bloomfielders this evening.

The Homestead Grays and the Crawfords resume their series this evening by clashing at Beaver Falls. The teams will return to Pittsburgh to continue their battle later in the week.

NEW SOX PILOT TELLS PLANS

DETROIT, June 20.—(AP.)—Martin Joseph McManus, acting manager of the Boston Red Sox following the resignation yesterday of John Shauno Collins, today said that he had set seventh place as the goal for the Red Sox this year. The former Tiger infielder declared:

Marty McManus

"The club is so far behind that our only chance is to reach seventh place. I am convinced that we have a better outfit than the White Sox, and maybe we can pass them before the season closes."

McManus said he did not expect to make many changes in the club until he had a chance to study things out. He added:

"I'll say one thing though, and that is there won't be any strict discipline. I'll try to enforce the rule that requires all the players to be in bed by midnight, but otherwise they'll have a lot of leeway. I'd rather have an enterprising ball club that made mistakes now and then than to have one scared to death to take chances in the pinches."

McManus said that Collins withdrew as manager because of ill health rather than any dissatisfaction with the owners. He said:

"Shauno was in bad shape physically. He worried a lot, and couldn't sleep at night. Finally he decided that no job is as important as his health."

Newark Southpaw Hurls No-Hit Win

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Top-flight men's singles competition looms for the Stanton Heights net lot this afternoon as the forty-fourth annual Western Pennsylvania tennis championships swing into their third day of action. Just 26 performers remain in the jousting from an original field of 90, the total having been further reduced yesterday as combatants sweltered through 19 debates before a gallery numbering in the neighborhood of 1,000 spectators.

The Sunday session left but one first round and two second round fracases to be disposed of, all of which means that the tough boys are about set to get together in the third and fourth bracket hostilities. Topping today's card are the John O'Loughlin-George Johnson and Paul Hicks-Paul Barber affairs.

ARKLE FACES TEST

B. F. Arkle, Wheeling blond and second seeded aspirant, will register initial 1932 appearance here by taking on Russ Unger, hard-hitting Mount Lebanon captain, at 5 o'clock. The survivor of this melee must face Dr. Jack Lauler, P. A. A. mainstay, at 6:30 in an affair that promises plenty of severe driving. Other tilts apt to carry heavy charges include those involving Sam Harbison, 1931 West Penn runner-up, with Dr. Chick Cochrane, Capt. Frank Smith, of Edgewood, with Art Glaser, Winged Head crack, and McCook Reed with his rangy Edgewood team-mate, Andy Smeaton. Champion Bill Haseltine, Len Reed and Dr. Dave O'Loughlin, seeded contenders, are a notch ahead of schedule and will loaf till tomorrow.

The Sabbath program proved less productive of upsets than did the lid-lift card, the defeat of Bud Leyda, Bellevue-Grove City lad, in eliminating Al Bialas, P. A. A. veteran, after a most inauspicious start, 0-6, 6-2, 6-2, rating reference as the lone real reversal of the seance.

The imperturbable Billy Haseltine, inaugurating his quest for his third consecutive Western Pennsylvania crown and permanent possession of the David I. McCahill Cup, dispatched two worthy foes, Neal Rumsey, Mt. Lebanon southpaw, and Dr. Phillips Johnson, brother of New Castle George Johnson, to advance to the bracket of 16, wherein he tangles with the redoubtable Charley Lockhart, of Princeton, on the morrow.

O'LOUGHLINS VICTORS

Drs. John and Dave O'Loughlin, home hopes, likewise whirled through formidable opposition, John nosing out Bob Lampus, brilliant Shannopin boss, 7-5, 6-3, in perhaps the finest scrimmage of the day, while Dave outhit Bud Leyda, 6-4, 6-3, in a larruping tussle, featuring hot shots and brief rallies.

Draws in men's doubles and women's singles will be made this evening. The feminine entry list is about the largest in West Penn history and that it includes, in addition to 1931 Champion Miriam Sullivan, of the P. A. A., such notables as Dorothy Jarvis, premiere in 1927 and 1930; Margaret Carspecken, scintillant Morgantowner, who holds the women's championship of Philadelphia on grass; Helen Carson, Greensburg portsider and 1931 runner-up, and Dorothy Anderson, Butler girl. Names of entrants in both of the above events will be received at the tournament booth, adjacent to the courts, or by 'phone at Emerson 9609. The summary:

ARKLE VICTOR

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 20.—(AP.)—B. F. Arkle, of Wheeling, won the state closed tennis crown yesterday, defeating Sam Coin, of Beckley, defending champion, 6-1, 6-3, 1-6, 6-3.

WOMEN STARS BATTLE FOR TITLE TODAY

By TOM BIRKS

With the Oakmont Country Club women's team, defending champion, and the Allegheny entry practically deadlocked for the leadership of Section I of the women's team league, interest will turn today to the Butler Country Club layout where the final matches of Section I will be played.

While Oakmont and Allegheny are battling it out for the title, Stanton Heights, Edgewood and Butler will be fighting to obtain enough points to keep from landing in the cellar position. The team at the bottom of the league will meet Westmoreland Country Club, winner of the Section II title in the playoffs. The winner gets the sixth berth in Section I and the loser goes into Section II.

ALLEGHENY HOLDS LEAD

The Allegheny team, headed by Mrs. J. Bernd Rose, will enter the fray with a single point lead over Oakmont. Allegheny appears to be the stronger all-round team. Betty Brooks and Nancy Byers are playing great golf, and Mrs. Rose, together with Mrs. F. Brown, make a great leadoff pair.

The seventh annual golf tournament of the Sons of the American Revolution will be held at the Pittsburgh Field Club this afternoon.

PROS AT UNIONTOWN

At Uniontown there will be a pro-amateur tournament. Practically all of the district pros, with the exception of those who have left for the National open, expect to take part.

All told, there are four title tournaments on the books for the district this week. Tomorrow, the West Penn senior event will be played at Oakmont, and the Westmoreland County championship event will be held at Greensburg Thursday, these being in addition to the women's team play today and the Sons of the American Revolution event.

Niblick Shots

C. H. McDonald, professional at the Aspinwall Rob-O-Link layout, tells a good story. Two girls came to the tee and one requested a lesson. When the lesson was finished, McDonald inquired of the other if she also wanted a lesson. "No, mister," replied the girl, "I learned yesterday."

Members of Butler's Country Club at Buena Vista, just outside of McKeesport, are planning an amateur tournament to be held early in July. With a growing membership and 18 holes of sporty golf, this course overlooking the winding Youghiogheny should become a popular one.

J. L. Cronte, of the Edgewood Country Club, scored a hole-in-one on the No. 3 at the Edgewood course yesterday, a 175-yard shot. Cronte was playing with A. J. Manson and P. H. Grunnagle. H. D. Emslie and H. C. Metz tied for top honors in the first division in the 18-hole medal play sweepstakes with net 68's. Metz had a low gross score of 79.

In the individual match play against par competition yesterday at Stanton Heights, C. E. Devlin led the field, finishing 5 up. A. D. Horgan and E. H. Clarkson were tied for second, 4 up.

At Shannopin, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Atwood won the low gross honors in the mixed foursome play, turning in a card of 91—16—75. Mr. and Mrs. Hodgson has a low net of 91-16—75. Other scores follow:

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Mullenex, 102-26—76; A. K. Markland and Mrs. W. J. Lacock, 97-20—77; Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Unkefer, 95-17—78; Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Thomas, 104-22—82; Mr. and Mrs. T. Thomas, 105-23—82; Dr. and Mrs. Carpenter, 106-23—83; J. C. Vickerman and Jane Brinkerman, 107-23—84; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Vickerman, 116-26—90; W. K. Lacock and Mrs. A. J. Markland, 104-19—85; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hersperger, 114-24—92; R. W. Irwin and Mrs. E. R. Braun, Jr., 105-15—90.

SETS DISCUS MARK

HAGEN, Germany, June 20.—(AP.)—Grete Heublein bettered the listed world's record for the women's discus throw yesterday with a toss of 40.84 meters (133 feet 11 29-32 inches). The listed world's record for the women's discus throw is 39.62 meters (129 feet 11 113-128 inches), set by Halinas Konopacka, of Poland, in 1928.

GREENS TOP WHITES

The Greens, of the South Park Riding and Polo Club, defeated the Whites at South Park yesterday in an inter-club match, 4 to 3, before a good-sized turnout of fans. Ackerman scored two goals for the Greens, Dette and Degenhardt accounting for the others. Waltz tallied twice for the Whites, with Fisher counting the third goal.

EDWARD REYNOLDS, Jr., Executive Vice-President & Secretary

Nick Altrock
Baseball's Humorist
Says:

CLEVELAND, June 20.—Among the chief reasons the Yanks are leading the league is Lazzeri's playing this year, and Manager Joe McCarthy can't steal a bow on that. This spring Mac had string and wrapping paper all ready for Tony and was going to sell him over the counter because Saltzgaver looked set for second base.

Nick Altrock

Well, the new guy got one hit in his first 10 games. A wooden Indian could do as well as that at the plate and Joe even considered using one of those cigar store emblems instead of Tony.

Finally Lazzeri got in as a sort of favor, and he's the guy that contributed about a half-dozen spark plugs to make the Yanks a 16-cylinder machine. Oh, well, some managers get all the breaks and some just have them thrown in their laps.

CHOCOLATE, FARR SET

Lee Sala against Ted Yarosz if he comes safely through the Freeman bout.

They're talking about the possibility of a knockout ending the Jack Sharkey-Max Schmeling bout in New York tomorrow night, yet Sharkey has not stopped an opponent since he knocked out Phil Scott, in Miami, Fla., in four rounds more than two years ago, since which time both Mickey Walker and Primo Carnera have gone 15 rounds each with him, whereas Schmeling has not scored a real knockout since he stopped Pietro Corri, a setup, in one round in 1928. The referee halted his bout with Johnny Risko in the ninth round and George Blake took similar action with only a little more than 10 seconds to go in the fifteenth round of his battle with Young Stribling in Cleveland last July. In all, Schmeling has failed to ring up a decisive knockout in his last 53 rounds against Risko, Joe Sekyra, Paulino Uzcudun, Sharkey and Stribling.

Phils Get Heathcote, Release Bressler

PHILADELPHIA, June 20.—(AP.)—Rube Bressler, veteran outfielder of major league baseball, has been given his unconditional release by the Phillies, and Cliff Heathcote, another veteran, who was released recently by the Cincinnati Reds, has been signed in his place.

Bressler, who has been in the big leagues since 1914, when he joined the Philadelphia Athletics, came to the Phillies this spring from the Brooklyn Dodgers. He says he will visit the Dodgers to see whether they can use him, or else try for a coaching position with some other major league club.

Heathcote, who broke in with the St. Louis Cardinals 14 years ago, has seen service with the Chicago Cubs and was a member of the Reds for two years.

MEET FOR WEIGHT MEN

The new Mile Athletic Club, 434 Third avenue, will conduct the Senior Allegheny Mountain Association weight-lifting championships on July 1. Entry blanks can be obtained at the A. M. A. headquarters, Room 35, Vandergrift Building, Pittsburgh, Pa. The championships will be considered as sectional Olympic tryouts.

PECK, FAMOUS PITT CENTER, SUCCUMBS

By JESS CARVER

Death has stricken from the rolls the name of one of Pitt's most illustrious gridiron greats—Bob Peck, all-America center in 1916 and 1917 and for the past 12 years athletic director at Culver Military Academy. The former football star died suddenly yesterday, a few minutes after he collapsed on a golf course at Culver, Ind. Death was attributed to heart disease.

Bob Peck

The sudden passing on of the great Peck came as a great shock here, where he gained fame, not only for himself, but for his school. Converted into a center from a backfield player in 1914 by Pop Warner, he starred from the start, and was classed by Warner as the greatest passer in the game.

Walter Camp selected him on his all-America eleven in 1916 and repeated in 1917.

The body will be shipped here from Culver tonight. Funeral services will be held at Samson's funeral parlors Wednesday afternoon. Peck is survived by his widow and two children.

After graduating from Pitt in 1917, Peck spent two years in the Marine Corps during the war and in 1920 took over the coaching reins at Culver. His elevens have met with great success and his basketball and baseball teams have ranked with the best preparatory school outfits in the country.

Jim MacMurdo, Wood Harris and Bill Keller, of Pitt; Tom Coulter, of Carnegie Tech; Gordy Fraser, of West Virginia, and Howard Dawson, of Princeton, joined the Eastern contingent of college track and field stars headed for California and the I. C. A. A. A. championship meet last night. The local athletes boarded the 14-car special train that rolled through here bearing squads from Penn State, N. Y. U., Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Penn and other Eastern schools.

Dawson and Harris competed in the annual A. M. A. title meet in the Pitt Stadium Saturday afternoon. Harris equaling the meet record in the furlong and Dawson bettering the A. M. A. mark for the half-mile, although he was not eligible to compete and his record will not be placed in the books.

Fractional Losses Shown As Wheat Prices Slide; Dollars Again Strong

NEW YORK, June 20.—(AP.)—Financial markets began the new week in a quiet but hopeful manner.

Stocks, bonds and principal commodities generally worked higher, although the share market eased off somewhat after midday, as wheat slid back a little from its best levels. In foreign exchanges, pronounced strength again developed in dollars.

The rail issues led the slow upturn in shares, and utilities joined the movement. Miscellaneous issues getting up a point or two included New York Central, New Haven, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Pacific Telephone, Public Service of New Jersey, Consolidated Gas, United States Steel, Du Pont, Air Reduction, Case, Pullman, Eastman and United Fruit. McKeesport gained about 3. American Telephone advanced a fraction. After midday, there were fractional recessions from the best levels of the morning.

The markets did not expect much and received little in the way of stimulating news from industry, with the dullness of summer now beginning to be felt. While there has been hope that with business already at an extremely low level, the summer recession may be less than usual, the business outlook promises to remain somewhat obscure during the next few weeks. Wall street expects security markets may gain some stimulation in coming weeks from such sources as Lausanne, the Democratic convention and from an adjournment of Congress.

While brokerage quarters have been talking for some time about a stock market rally when Congress adjourns, some quarters are now suggesting that such an upturn has been so widely predicted that it may prove disappointing. Most international financial authorities in Wall street are not looking for any final settlement of the war debt problem at Lausanne, but on the theory that the worst that can happen has been fully discounted here, some believe that any moderately constructive developments would have a good effect. Germany's foreign trade figures for May showed an export surplus of 87,000,000 marks, or almost double that of April, but still well below the average of 1931, and at a level which meeting international obligations is obviously difficult.

GRAIN VALUES TAKE SPURT

CHICAGO, June 20.—Decided upturns in grain values took place here early today, influenced by an unexpected rise in Liverpool wheat quotations and by unfavorable domestic harvest conditions. Heavy downpours in Kansas were reported. Opening ¾ to 1⅜c higher, Chicago wheat futures advanced further. Corn started ⅜ to ⅞c up and continued to mount.

With four inches or more of rain over the week-end at various places in Kansas, talk of a wet harvest gave immediate impetus to wheat price gains. Corn and oats prices responded to the upward swing of wheat. Provisions went higher with hog values and with cereals.

Progress Now Is Prevailing Feature Here

By B. C. FORBES

PROGRESS.

America's domestic and international banking and monetary position has cleared up extraordinarily. Confidence in banks has been restored at home. Europe has done its worst in withdrawing gold, and now the prospect is that the next important gold flow will be into this country.

B. C. Forbes

America's vitally important bond market exhibits every indication of having been brought under control. Quiet but impressive strength now is the keynote.

Stocks naturally are more mercurial. Sharp fluctuations continue not unusual, but, at least it has been demonstrated that the market can rebound as well as relapse. Necessitous liquidation by banks has become negligible.

General economic conditions continue markedly mixed. But, at least the trend no longer is universally downward.

The financial world has lost its nervousness about Congress.

Hope has risen that real progress will be made by European countries in composing their admittedly delicate and difficult debt and armament problems.

It cannot be complained, however, that commercial industrial activity in this country has become sufficiently pronounced to justify conclusions that the business and employment tides have definitely turned.

"NOT OPTIMISTIC, but less pessimistic," replied America's most powerful banker when I asked him last week how he viewed the outlook.

He cited these encouraging developments:

First, the definite ending of foreign raids on America's gold.

Second, the prospect that Congress would adjourn without causing further disturbance, after having acted far from totally unsatisfactorily.

Third, the restoration of confidence in banks.

Fourth, the indications that the bankers' bond-buying organization is proving capable of maintaining an orderly, not to say advancing, market.

Fifth, signs that pressure on the stock market from institutions and from large individual investors has relaxed.

Sixth, a diminution of nervousness at home, and intimations from governmental sources abroad that something tangible promises to result from the Lausanne conference on reparations and, later, from the international economic conference indorsed by America.

He added that the presidential campaign is unlikely to prove acutely disturbing.

ALTHOUGH NO UNBIASED person can argue that the general trend is definitely or uniformly upwards, it is heartening to find such statements as the following in Dun's latest review of business:

"General activity in the wholesale apparel markets held up well.

"There is now better buying in the hardware line, particularly in the marine and agricultural divisions.

"More activity has developed in the footwear markets.

"Buyers of furniture have expressed their intention to drop the cheap grades. Cooperation of all wholesale grocers and chain stores is being sought in an endeavor to end 'uneconomic price cutting.'

"More developments were reported in the textile and shoe and leather industries.

"Indications of moderate manufacturing increases are also manifest in automotive parts and accessories, plumbers' metal parts supplies, and in house equipment specialties.

"More activity was noted in wool markets than in many weeks.

"Movement of tires is larger.

"Manufacturers of hardware and machine tools report a gain in orders received for export shipment.

"Orders for lumber were 15 per cent in excess of production.

"From several parts of the country have come reports of increased building operations, with better demand for all building materials. Employment in many districts has shown a marked improvement.

"Greatly increased use of cotton fabrics in the manufacture of men's clothing is revealed.

"Prospects in the vegetable and fruit packing industries are substantially better than a year ago.

"Reports from retail centers show better distribution of seasonal fabrics and garments."

THE PICTURE still has many shades, some very dark shades, notably appalling unemployment. But it will be seen from the foregoing that it also now has some bright spots.

CATERPILLAR'S 2ND QUARTER BETTER

Upturn in April and May Reduces Earlier Deficit; Operating at 40 Per Cent

NEW YORK, June 20.—After an unprofitable first quarter, business of the Caterpillar Tractor Company turned for the better in April with the result that net for that month and May aggregated $73,826, equivalent to 4 cents a share on the outstanding 1,882,240 shares of no-par capital stock. The profits for April of $48,079 and for May of $25,747 reduced the net loss for the first five months of the current year to $436,298. No comparison with the corresponding period of 1931 is possible inasmuch as the company in 1931 limited itself to reporting quarterly.

During the initial quarter of 1932 operations resulted in a new loss of $810,124, which compared with a net profit of $1,031,345, equivalent to 55 cents a share, in the similar period a year ago.

SALES IMPROVE

Sales for the five months ended May 31, last, totaled $6,638,033, of which $1,747,481 was contributed by April and $1,388,905 by May. During the first quarter sales amounted to $3,501,647, contrasting with $9,070,536 in the initial three months of 1931.

In recent months operations of Caterpillar have been running at around 40 per cent of capacity, a rate, it is the hope of the management, to maintain for the remainder of the year. During most of last year the company was working toward readjustments of plant and lines on which it would be able to establish a basis of profitable operations at less than 50 per cent of capacity.

SEEK FARM TRADE

While equipment for road building is likely to be the mainstay of the company's business for the rest of 1932, a concentrated effort is being made to augment orders from the farmer.

With any substantial stepping-up in the price of agricultural products and a consequent increase in demand for farm machinery, Caterpillar would be in position to show good profit gains. Expenses have been materially reduced by many economies in the cost of manufacture, distribution and administration. The company's selling organization has been maintained without any decrease in number of dealers or loss in morale.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The demand for fruits and vegetables was dull today at the wholesale markets in Pittsburgh. There were no changes in quotations.

The butter, egg and cheese markets showed stronger, with slight change in quotations.

The poultry market remained firm, with slight crop in butter quotations.

Car lot supplies were moderate with 345 cars on track. Arrivals included 3 cars apples, 1 bananas, 1 beans, 7 cabbage, 5 cantaloupes, 2 carrots, 5 cucumbers, 1 grapefruit, 6 lettuce, 1 onions, 1 oranges, 2 peas, 1 peppers, 29 potatoes, 3 strawberries, 1 sweet potatoes, 8 tomatoes, 4 watermelons and 1 mixed vegetables.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, June 20. — The bond market indicated stabilized influences today with prices generally firm. United States government loans exhibited a slightly easier tendency. German government obligations continued to move forward, both the 5½s and 7s adding from 1 to 2 points to their recent gains. At the same time, bonds of France were easier. Some of the Chileans improved substantially. Outside of the Reich issues, however, foreign loans were rather quiet.

NEW YORK, June 20.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

Roommate Warns Lynn That Her New Friend Is a Dangerous Man

CHAPTER XI.

Sarah's eyebrows drew down, black and heavy, a smudge across her forehead.

"You don't approve of Jennie?" asked Dwight, laughing at her.

"Not for Lynn. A model," said Sarah.

"Jennie's a dear," said Lynn, flashing into indignation. It wasn't kind of Sarah, she thought, before strangers.

Spirit, thought Dwight, and loyalty. His interest quickened. He passionately admired loyalty; perhaps because he had encountered so little of it along the road, possessed so little of it himself. Once it had been given him, full measure. He had forgotten that gift. He had it still, from the same donor. He could remember that and forget the original bestowal.

"Models are all right, Sarah. Don't be provincial," he mocked her. "Nice girls. I've known dozens."

"I don't doubt it." Her voice was sharp.

"Sarah, don't give me away. What will Miss Harding think" he murmured reproachfully. "You make me sound like an ogre, a Casanova seeking to devour the lithe ladies of the wholesale garment trade. But really, my dear, your idea of models is outdated. They are no longer forced to entertain the avid buyers from out of town, lest they lose their jobs. As a matter of fact, a good model is so rare nowadays that the wholesaler is content with working hours only. Let's go back and see what we can do with Scarletti." And as they went into the living room together he said to Lynn, low, "I like the way you champion your friend. Sometime, perhaps, you'll bring her to one of my parties?"

ENJOY SCENERY

We took it for granted that this was the beginning of a friendship. Lynn's heart had warmed to his defense of Jennie. She smiled at him. He nodded, as if a bond had been sealed between them.

"Giuseppe, old boy, could you sing for us?"

"Later," rumbled the big Italian; "not now. I am too concerned with the digestion of your excellent meal."

He turned to Sarah and asked a question. They sat down in the low chairs by the fireplace and Dwight gestured to Lynn. "I'll send Wilkins upstairs for your wrap," he said, "and we'll go out and look at the view, even though we both enjoy the scenic facilities of the Seacoast Building every day."

"I spend most of my time on the third floor," she reminded him.

Wilkins brought the wrap. Dwight put it about her bare shoulders. They went out on the terrace together, and together leaned on the parapet and looked out over the lower city. The terrace was gay with the hardiest of spring flowers, with small squat trees in green pottery jars, with chairs of decorative metal, swinging couches, tables.

LITTLE CITIES

Lynn drew a deep breath of pleasure. "How very lovely!" she said, entranced.

"I like it. Later, we have gay awnings and parasols. All it lacks then is sand and sea," he told her, laughing. "But I stay in town—when I'm here at all—until courts close, you know. I've a place on the Island," he went on. "I'd like you to see it; you'd enjoy it, I think."

The mail plane passed overhead; they heard the strong singing of the engine, the beat of the great wings; they saw the steady, shining lights.

"It is a wonderful city," he said, so softly, so easily, that he did not disturb her dream of lights and buildings, of archway and park, of far waters and strange lands beyond—a city whose symbol is the skyscrapper. "Have you ever thought much about skyscrapers?" he asked.

"Why, no," she answered, startled.

"Of course not. Every day you go to one, are swallowed up by it; every day you work there, never thinking of the life teeming in the building; unaware of the thousands of people who spend most of their waking hours under that high roof. A skyscraper is a little city; it is a little world; it is a strange planet; it is," he went on smoothly, "a phallic symbol. Yet it is also a new pattern against the sky; it is all of ordered beauty and upward growth that many of the workers within it will ever know. And it must influence them, whether they are aware of it or not."

HEAR SINGER

She listened as he went on talking, weaving a web of significant words; then, abruptly, he was silent. What had he said? Lynn wondered. Not much, perhaps. Perhaps, after all, his words had no significance, or perhaps they were more important than she knew. But his voice had a dark necromancy; his trained, eloquent voice.

In the room they had left, Scarletti struck a chord, sitting flatly at the piano, a grotesque god of song.

"I've bored you," said David Dwight contritely. "Come, let us go in and listen to our imported song bird."

He stood aside to let her pass before him. But she stopped a moment on the threshold and turned toward the dreaming spires, with the golden squares that were their windows, of downtown New York. She forgot that the golden squares meant people working; scrub women earning their musty daily bread; clerks doing overtime; harried people housed together in the spring night for the purpose of wage earning.

Little cities; little words; strange planets; phallic symbol.

What was that?

She remembered, from her indiscriminate reading; flushed a little, and turning, went into the living room. Now Scarletti was singing. Lynn sat down in a deep chair. The music throbbed about her, lifted her, high, higher, past the pointed soaring of city buildings.

LYNN PLEASED

But presently Scarletti ceased to sing and there was general talk and a rubber or two of bridge. And Lynn did not again go out upon the terrace. She felt dimly that there was danger in terraces above a city; in the anachronistic blooming of spring flowers from soil scattered in cement and set upon steel; danger in dreaming lights, in distant streets, the ugliness veiled and softened; danger in voices speaking precisely patterned words.

"Happy evening?" asked Sarah, as they were riding toward home.

"Awfully," said Lynn.

"A charming man."

"Yes."

"The greatest tenor since Caruso."

"I never heard Caruso," Lynn told her. But she had not been thinking of the childlike and entertaining Scarletti.

It was not very late when Lynn reached home. Jennie was out and she had the apartment to herself. She felt wideawake, stimulated, almost overstimulated.

She observed herself in Jennie's mirror. She leaned her hands on the dressing-table top and surveyed her flushed face and shining eyes. Her wrap dropped from her bare shoulders and she regarded her reflection—"rose-quartz pagoda;" satin cap of black hair; curved, half-smiling lips. She said aloud, solemnly, "Society becomes you, darling."

HAPPY EVENING

The gardenias held their deep fragrance, but were drooping, turning slightly brown and curling at the waxen edges. Lynn went into the living room to hunt for a small vase. She found one and put the flowers in water. Finally she undressed lingeringly.

Such a happy evening. Such a gorgeous apartment. Such a delightful company of four. Such a charming host. Well, why shouldn't he be? She argued with herself as if against some unspoken disloyalty. He has everything: position, money, brilliance and the most enormous acquaintance and experience.

She slipped her striped flannel robe over her nightgown, tied the cord about her slim waist and thrust her feet into slippers. She couldn't be hungry after that dinner! But she was. She was rummaging in the ice box when Jennie came in.

"Home, Lynn?"

"Yes. I'm out here. Be right in."

Lynn arrived in the living room with a glass of milk in one hand and a chicken bone in the other. She and Jennie had had a frying chicken the night before—an unwonted extravagance.

"Didn't they feed you tonight?" said Jennie.

"And how! Darling, such food. Cocktails, caviar, supersoup, sole Marguery, partridge, wine, hearts of lettuce, individual Alaskas——"

"Stop, you're driving me crazy!" Jennie fled to the ice box, returned bearing a ravaged-looking bone, fixed Lynn with a reproachful eye. "And I had spaghetti and red ink," she said.

"Good time?"

"No. Yes. I've got to stop seeing Slim. He's serious and poor. I'm getting to like him, sort of. Darned if I know why. First thing you know I'll go soft on the situation and he'll have me living in a hen-coop in Jersey yet. Not for this baby."

Lynn, not listening, said excitedly, "Jennie, it was a most marvelous party, really. Look, gardenias"—she gestured toward the little vase—"and bridge, and Scarletti sang."

"How's the new boy friend?"

"Boy friend?" Lynn's eyes were wide.

"Drop the lashes over the baby stare, Dwight, the lad who gets 'em out of the hoosegow, for a price."

"Oh, he's a dear," said Lynn.

"Huh," said Jennie, gnawing the bone. "Exit Tom."

"Jennie, don't be absurd. As if Mr. Dwight—oh, you're crazy!"

"Yeah? Crazy like a fox, that's me."

"But Jennie, he's married; he's 'way over 40; he isn't the least bit interested in me. Beside, I love Tom," Lynn reminded her, flaming.

"I know you love Tom," said Jennie soothingly, "but the rest of it doesn't make sense. Married? What does that mean? 'Way over 40—that's a good laugh, too. And of course he isn't interested in you: he sends you gardenias out of charity. Only I'm telling you that Dr. David Dwight is just about as harmless as a serpent!"

Synopsis

Young and pretty Lynn Harding is ambitious for a career. She is a clerk in the Seacoast Bank and Trust Company where she meets Tom Shepard, secretary to one of the bank's vice presidents. One day, Jennie Le Grande, a model for a concern in the building is taken ill and Lynn takes her home. Lynn likes Jennie in spite of her sophisticated attitude. Tom objects to Jennie. He professes his love to Lynn but she refuses to take him seriously, although she also loves him. When he gives her a diamond ring at Christmas, Lynn explains that they can't bind each other as they have their careers to make first. She wears the ring in her right hand. When Jennie's roommate leaves to be married, Lynn rejects Tom's offer of marriage. Later, Sarah Dennet, Lynn's friend and chief, introduces her to David Dwight, the noted lawyer. Twenty years ago, Sarah loved Dwight, but he gave her up to marry a wealthy girl. Attracted by Lynn, he invites her and Sarah to lunch. Tom disapproves of Lynn's friendship with Dwight, but she reminds him of their agreement—"no ties." Lynn accepts Dwight's invitation to dinner when she learns Sarah is also going. She is thrilled by the luxurious surroundings in Dwight's place.

Now Go On

"Society becomes you, darling," Lynn said to herself.

Heart of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Suffers Humiliation and Chagrin

So this was the reason that the wounded Chinese wished me to read to him the direction at the head of the letter, which had been sent him by the men who wounded him! The reason also that, as Katherine and Harry had intimated, he seemed to prefer me to any other visitor to the sick room. This simple-minded henchman of Lee Chow believed me to "belong" to Hugh Grantland, the "boss man" of his master.

My first sensation was one of intolerable humiliation. To think that anyone, even Katherine, should have heard so preposterous a statement chagrined me beyond measure. I did not dare look at her to see if she had heard his words, but I sensed surely that she was heroically smothering her natural mirth, and I felt that my hand should scorch if I put it to my check.

If there had been anything needed to make my humiliation complete, it was the remembrance of Dicky's startled expression when Harry Underwood had uttered his fantastic jest about my having a remote ancestress of Chinese royalty.

Mercifully, however, it was but a few seconds before sanity came to me and my flushed cheeks cooled. What in the world, I asked myself, did the opinion of a low-class Oriental about me matter? Why he had formed the opinion he had voiced could never be explained except by the unfathomable psychology of a mind trained in the feudal customs of the ancients.

ASKED TO READ

He was the man who had brought me long ago that message from Lee Chow, telling of Hugh Grantland's inexplicable disappearance and Lee Chow's fears concerning it. Lillian's journey and mine to the Western New York village and our solving of the problem had followed that message, and no doubt had been the genesis of the idea which patently was now firmly fixed in his mind—that I was the "liege lady" of Lee Chow's "boss-man," and therefore to be put above all other women in time of council.

I knew the fixity of any belief in the Oriental mind, and abandoned any wild idea of protest or attempt to change it which his unexpected words at first had brought me. Instead, although to speak at all cost me a tremendous effort, I said quietly, steadily:

"Perhaps you can read English yourself, if so—"

"No, no read English," he said emphatically, but I was convinced that he was not telling the truth. "Plitty lady read English. Me read Chinese."

"Very well." I turned to Katherine and lifted my eyebrows in interrogation.

"Just a second," she said. "Please hand me those pillows on the chair."

With skilled, tender hands, as I obeyed her, she raised the wounded man's head and shoulders and slipped the pillows under and back of him, so that he was not sitting up by any means, but in such a position that he could see ahead of him instead of above him.

SCANS MESSAGE

Then she placed in front of him a clever arrangement like a letter rack, to which she attached the letter, pinning it to the rack so that he could see every word of it without moving anything except his eyeballs.

I knew how important both nurse and physician considered it to keep their patient from movements of his arms or head, and gave Katherine a smiling little nod of tribute, the first time I had permitted myself to look at her since the embarrassing reference of the Chinese to my "belonging to Lee Chow boss man."

I watched his eyes and knew that he had read the direction in English with rapidity and facility. But he spoke insistently:

"Please read English words!"

I read out the message that Roderick and Junior had been so proud to read aloud to us, and he listened impassively.

"They say no come back," he repeated. "Say give this letter to me. All lite."

His eyes began traveling over the Chinese characters following the English direction, and I gripped the arms of my chair as I watched him. What were those impassive eyes reading?

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

It has often been claimed that Sunday school attendance reaches its highest average just before the Christmas holidays about the time when the presents are going to be distributed. That same idea seems to be working out with the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club. The annual club picnic at Kennywood is scheduled for July 14 and the kiddies who attend the most meetings these days get the greater number of free tickets for the rides or shows. This may be the reason for the unusually large attendance at all of the chapter meetings Saturday. In many instances records for attendance were broken and hundreds of boys and girls are now carefully guarding the strips of four tickets that have been given to them and they are anxiously awaiting for next Saturday's meetings to get more tickets.

Dick Brown, manager of the Rowland (Wilkinsburg) Theater, is mighty proud of the new band that made its first appearance Saturday at the Rowland Chapter meeting. Every member belongs to the Junior Komic Club and the first program was a dandy. The band is mostly of stringed instruments and is conducted by John Gilbert (not the actor), who plays the first violin. This Rowland Chapter band is under the instruction and rehearsed by the Garfield School of Music and promises to be one of the attractive features at future Komic Club meetings. The organization of the band emphasizes the idea of the Komic Club—entertainment and education.

ARSENAL NEWS

Gresham McGuire, reporter for the Arsenal Chapter, writes that the members of this chapter are going to miss Michael Ribich, 108 Forty-fourth street, for a while because "Mike" has had a bad fall resulting in a broken arm. That's tough on both Gresham and Mike, because it will split up their amateur musical act for a while. They had often entertained the Arsenal Club members and were mighty accommodating in playing at other chapter meetings, doing their "bit" to boost interest in the Junior Komic Club.

Gresham adds that the Arsenal Chapter has a great leader in Russell Nichols.

He reports:

"We all think him a great fellow because he has a fair and square way of handling the show and gives all of the youngsters who want to entertain a break."

Any boy or girl in the neighborhood of the Arsenal who does not belong to this chapter is missing something not to be had every day and everywhere.

Constructive things are being said and done all around us; all we need is the eye to see and the mind to grasp.

Before going any further, he should get some pointers from those who have already celebrated "know-your-own-mate week." He'll find them in Reno.

A SHORT, SHORT STORY

"Now what are you going to do?" demanded the wife of ex-Congressman Badminton, when the votes had been counted. "You're just a lameduck Congressman. You aren't accustomed to doing anything. I've got half a notion to divorce you." And as she said it she slapped him across the face with a bound volume of the Congressional Record. Badminton was annoyed, but held his pose. He cleared his throat and drank a glass of water. Then he smiled and said, "I am an ex-Congressman, true. The people have foolishly refrained from returning me to the seat I loved so well. But I am not a failure. Indeed, I have a practical plan for my future, as well as the future of all unemployed Congressmen. I shall offer my services to some institution of higher learning as an assistant football coach. I will teach the fine, upstanding, vigorous youth of the land—the gladiators of the gridiron—how to dodge and sidestep."

And the trouble with most movie shorts is that they're not short enough.

Action or Starvation?

With Exhaustion of Relief Funds Expected in August The Legislature Must Go Into Session.

Pennsylvania is faced with a serious emergency—not an emergency at some distant time, but one that is at our door.

Talbot relief fund appropriations, which have been taken out of the money authorized for permanent charities, will be exhausted by the middle of next week, according to relief workers.

This throws the thousands of unemployed and their families entirely on the resources of individual cities and counties which can only tide the situation over for a few weeks.

The $500,000 Allegheny County relief work program is almost at an end. The funds of the Harris Family-Help-Family campaign will keep starvation from Pittsburgh doors only until August.

Provision to take care of destitution less than two months away must be made and must be made promptly. Gov. Pinchot must immediately call the Legislature into session to save families, now having only the barest essentials of life, from actual starvation.

Give Us Voting Machines!

Blunder of Ordering Untried Device Should Be Remedied at Once.

The unfortunate situation whereby the county finds itself in possession of 1,100 voting machines that are deemed useless in their present condition, no doubt is the result of lacking foresight. Dependable voting machines are on the market, but, to be economical, which, of course, is commendable, the County Commissioners then in office ordered an untried machine. From the evidence so far developed, it appears to have been merely a "project" and not really a machine that actually was on the market.

The first result was long delay in the delivery of the machines, and then, when they were received, they proved to be faulty. The present Board of Commissioners wish the faults to be remedied, and are threatening proceedings against the manufacturing company and its bondsmen unless corrections are made. That, naturally, appears to be proper.

The sad part of it all is the defeat of the people. Years were required to get the legislative enactments necessary to permit the use of voting machines at all, and when all the legal details had been attended to, the voters said in effect:

"Give us voting machines as one means of preventing cheating at elections!"

They are still waiting. They have been very patient. Mr. McGovern, as the one remaining County Commissioner who was instrumental in what has proven to be a great blunder, should be extremely active in seeing that it is speedily remedied as far as possible—if he wants to "save his face."

Registry Padding Fought

Commissioners Learn That 60,000 "Phantoms" Voted In County at Last Election.

Upright citizens will note with satisfaction the decision of the County Commissioners to notify registry assessors to pay more strict attention to their duties and thus prevent padding of the lists of registered voters. There will be less satisfaction at the implication that "phantoms," supposedly a vicious factor in elections in Pittsburgh especially, are used to help the bosses in townships and boroughs as well, for only in these are registry assessors in office.

An official report to the Commissioners by George E. Meyers, chairman of the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes, and Leo A. Riordan, county investigator, stated that padding voters' lists in the county was on the increase, and that more than 60,000 "phantoms" voted in the last election. It is claimed that aliens voted in large numbers, and it was recommended that a perpetual list of eligible voters be kept as a means of preventing registration irregularities and consequent fraudulent voting.

The fact that the County Commissioners are giving this matter attention, and express willingness to stop crookedness at elections is a gain for good citizenship. It even promises to destroy one of the main arms of the control of the city by machine.

Banks Will Pay Soon

Realization Corporation Expects to Distribute Funds Within a Few Months.

Depositors in closed banks have had some good news. Prescott L. Lyon, vice president of the Second District Realization Corporation, formed to help wind up the affairs of closed state banks, declares that "sizeable amounts" will be available for distribution within a few months.

Over $70,000,000 of depositors' funds are said to remain in closed state and national banks in Allegheny County. Better progress appears to have been made in liquidating the national banks than in the state institutions. Depositors of the Bank of Pittsburgh have received half of their funds through the assistance of the First National Bank. The Highland National Bank has paid 20 per cent of its deposits. About $1,000,000 has been distributed to depositors in several state banks in small dividends.

Of course no one wishes liquidation to be pushed at the expense of taking needless sacrifices in the sale of assets, but the importance of releasing this large amount of money to Pittsburgh depositors, many of whom are in unfortunate circumstances due to business conditions, is so great that the Realization Corporation should act as quickly as possible.

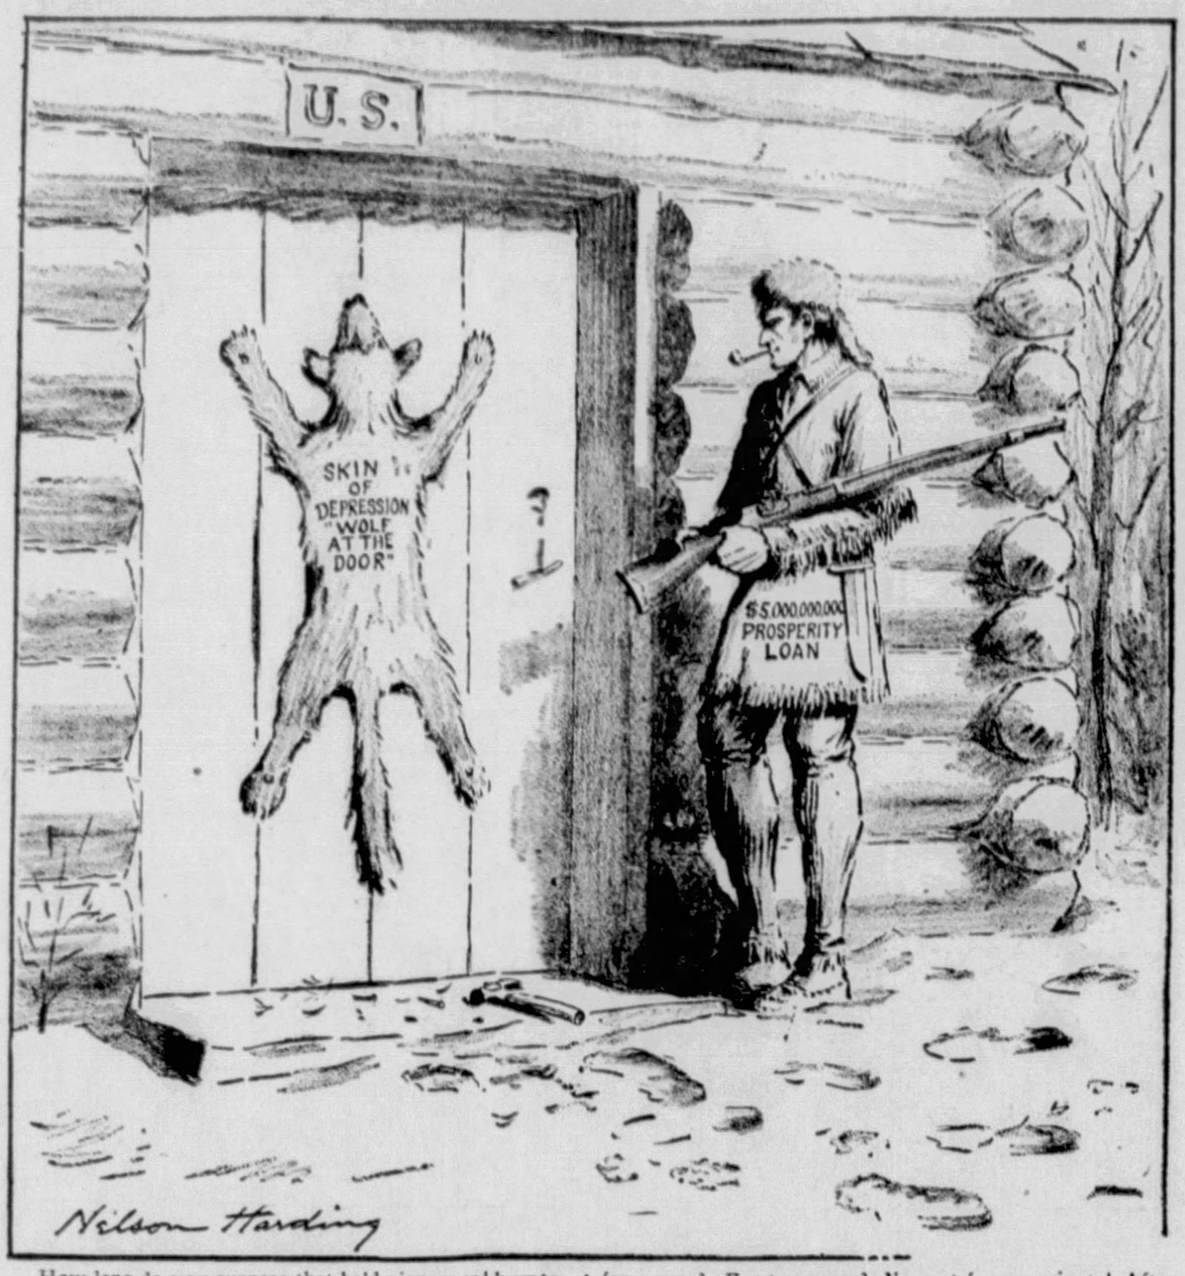
Oh, For a Daniel Boone!

By Nelson Harding



How long do you suppose that bold pioneer and hunter, Daniel Boone, would have tolerated a wolf at his door, blockading him in his cabin?

Would he have allowed the "varmint" to besiege him for a year? For two years? No, not for one minute! After that the beast would be on the door, in the form of a harmless wolfskin. Yet the Wolf of Depression has been at America's door for nearly three years, and it's still there. Oh, for a modern Daniel Boone.

Leadership Needed

Obstacles Have Been Removed and Effective Steps Should Be Started to Restore Confidence.

By B. C. FORBES

IMPORTANT obstacles in the way of a forward march have been removed.

Will the powers-that-be, after their unconscionably protracted period of timid inaction, now step forward and regain some of their lost public respect by aggressively leading the procession?

Uncertainty over Congress was given as an excuse for holding back.

That uncertainty has been largely removed.

Fears that the national budget would not come within sight of being balanced were given as an excuse for holding back.

THESE FEARS HAVE BEEN REMOVED.

Apprehension over the possibility of banking legislation regarded by them as acutely disturbing was proffered by bankers as an excuse for holding back.

THAT APPREHENSION HAS BEEN REMOVED.

Fright over currency hoarding served for months as an excuse for holding back.

THAT EXCUSE HAS BEEN REMOVED.

ALARM over Europe's vicious raid on this country's stock of gold—a raid which did reach enormous proportions—was given as an excuse for holding back.

THIS ALARM HAS PASSED.

Uneasiness over this nation's ability to adhere to the gold standard was offered as an excuse for holding back.

THAT EXCUSE IS NO LONGER TENABLE.

Unprecedented bank failures month after month were offered as an excuse for holding back.

BANK FAILURES ARE NO LONGER A MENACE.

Nervousness over the rapid melting of bond values was given as an excuse for holding back.

Such nervousness has largely vanished.

Uneasiness on the part of banks over the possibility of "runs" was given as an excuse for holding back.

THIS UNEASINESS HAS ENDED.

Predictions of the direst happenings in Europe were given as an excuse for holding back.

Even on this score hope is displacing despair.

THE conjuring up of visions—nightmares—of wholesale railway receiverships was given as an excuse for holding back.

Railway receiverships are not now even discussed.

IN SHORT, ONE BY ONE BOTH REAL AND IMAGINARY CLOUDS HAVE ROLLED AWAY.

Must a greviously suffering people wait until even the most cowardly of our so-called leading men of affairs become convinced that nothing but sunshine lies ahead before genuinely effective steps are taken to restore confidence, strengthen prices weakened wholly unduly, make bank credit more readily available, stimulate consumption, thereby quickening employment and inaugurating a sure-footed movement towards sanity and prosperity?

A public that has exercised extraordinary patience awaits impatiently convincing signs that LEADERSHIP has at last emerged from its cyclone cellars.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, June 20.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Talking to Basil Woon and Jim Tully and with Hattie Belle Johnston to see her late husband's novel, "Limpy," filmed, but little of it left to recognize. Albeit Chic Sale's portrayal of an unwanted old man, as always, especially moving and fine.

Typewriting a spell and with Lisle Belle for a prowl of the water front and fell to picturing a fish monger in spats, monocle and with British accent sopranoing: "Pictorial prizes!" all vastly comical to us. Then with the Aubrey Eads and Grover Cleveland to Mrs. Elbert Gary's for tiffin.

Sadie and Hugh Murray to dinner and to "Show Boat," the only revival I ever saw superior to the original. So driving the Murrays home and, dismissing the car at 72nd st., afoot through the park. Near the Mall it came on to rain and we huddled in a shelter house watching lightning fork vividly across the sky.

* * *

To some—well, one anyway—New York's extravagantly eulogized police have settled into chronic apathy. They have not the spruce alertness of the days they wore helmet and carried the mace. The usual sprightly gait is an indifferent shuffle. They lean against buildings in cross-legged indolence, huddle in areaways for surreptitious drags of cigarets and often their clubs dangle from shields. It is possible they are touched with a lethargy that has swept the world. Whatever it is there is a noticeable lack of the disciplined instinct once thrilling us all.

* * *

Now and then visiting the Bronx Zoo I wonder at the lukewarmness of natives for this entrancing clump of scenery. Visitors are mostly out-of-towners. To me there is high fun in hunting for suggestions of humanity in the macaronic exhibits. The cage of brooding vultures—Wall street. And the chipmunk that is a Clarence Mackey. A seal doubles for Vincent Lopez, an eagle recalls Jules Broulatour, a fox with preternatural bright eyes, Roy Howard, a screech owl, Irving Caesar and it must have been Chaplin got his grotesque walk from a penguin. There is, too, a certain rattlesnake—but never mind! Oh, yes, and the turtle that sticks out its head like George Jessel.

* * *

At the Aquarium, too, are doubles for Helen Morgan, Barney Gallant, Frank Craven and one wide-eyed Japanese specimen is a ringer for that old sweetheart of mine, Marie Dressler.

* * *

Personal nomination for the most finished restraint among the movie actors—Roland Young.

There is an electrical machinery magnate, with a crop of bushy hair, who has a barber from Pittsburgh every two weeks to trim his locks and I know of another gentleman whose barber accompanies him to Europe. Yet I think the most exacting of all is a hotel proprietor who will not have a trim save between midnight and 1 o'clock in the morning.

* * *

I recall that period when the singeing process—fresh from Cincinnati's Burnett House—added a tonsorial splendor to the shops back home. Most of the regulars at Mace Robinson's gazed upon it in a sort of dumb awe. With the exception of the local wit who dropped in during one of the ministrations. "Finding them with a light, are you?" he cracked to Mace. Incidentally, one of my border riders reports a club breakfast plan of barbering in midtown shops these days. For instance, in one, No. 3 consists of a a shave, hair cut, rinse and massage for 90 cents.

* * *

A veteran enthusiast of the Sport of Kings is Gottfried Walbum. Everybody along Broadway knows "Pop" Walbum, burly and sturdy at 86. He came from Germany as a lad and once owned the Saratoga race track, inaugurating that picturesque pageant, "the parade to the post."

A yellow clipping, anonymously in the mail today, was an editorial written doubtless during a major panic of long ago. In thick black despair it moaned: "The skies were never so threatening or he future so starkly terrifying. Food riots quicken the tension. The horror of civilization in collapse threads the public thought. We are, the mightiest of all nations, utterly adrift."

And here we are again the same old fraidy cats—Just awhile ago a hall window curtain fluttered and I sat breathless, waiting for a Kreuger or something to vault over the sill.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

You did a wrong thing once, or a silly, or a shameful thing—And you've never been able to forget it.

Even in your happiest moments the memory of that old sin or blunder sticks to you. You feel it dragging you down. You feel that other people must suspect it; hold it against you.

You're sure that you can never again be as free as other people, never as proud.

If you could only erase that memory from your own mind and the minds of those who know about it! If you could only free yourself!

YOU CAN!

You can free yourself from any mistake.

You can live as proudly and as hopefully as though you had never committed that mistake.

But you can't do it by being sorry, or by trying to run away and forget.

IF YOU WANT TO FREE YOURSELF FROM A MISTAKE, YOU MUST FACE IT; YOU MUST UNDERSTAND IT; YOU MUST RESPECT IT!

But how can you respect a wrong deed?

You need not respect a wrong deed; BUT YOU CAN RESPECT THE MOTIVES THAT LAY BEHIND THAT WRONG DEED.

You were weak, and selfish, and silly; perhaps, even vicious. Very well; acknowledge that. Be sorry for that. But don't stop there. Go on. Tell the whole truth to yourself about yourself. Don't lie, or evade, or make excuses. Simply say:

"Yes, I was weak, but I wanted to be strong. I was silly, but I wanted to be wise. I was vicious, but I wanted to be good. I started straight, but somehow I get muddled; and my record's a mess. BUT I MYSELF AM NOT A MESS!

"There were fine qualities in me when I started. There are fine qualities in me now. I've done foolish things, and I'm ashamed, but I'm not going to let shame get me down. If I have reasons for shame, I also have reason for pride. If I blundered in living, I at least tried to live; and perhaps, next time, I won't blunder."

Say that to yourself. Stop your wallowing. Stop your repenting. Stand up like a man and SHOW YOUR FAITH IN YOURSELF; and the instant you do that the hateful past will lose its power over you.

"Yes," you say, "that sounds like good advice, and I know it's true. I know I was decent at heart, despite appearances. But how can I make others know it? How can I make others respect me? They don't. They still hold the past against me."

THEY HOLD IT AGAINST YOU BECAUSE YOU ARE HOLDING IT AGAINST YOURSELF . .

THEY ARE REFUSING TO BELIEVE IN YOU BECAUSE YOU DON'T BELIEVE IN YOURSELF.

If you want others to respect you, RESPECT YOURSELF.

If you want others to bet on you, BET ON YOURSELF.

THE WORLD TAKES YOU AT YOUR OWN ESTIMATE.

And you can't bluff! By a thousand unconscious acts and reactions you reveal your estimate of yourself.

GET RIGHT WITH YOURSELF, AND THE WORLD WILL GET RIGHT WITH YOU.

Isn't It So?

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Golf Widowlogues

"No actinic rays for me!" exclaimed Mrs. Green, as she pulled her becoming shade hat down a little farther over her eyes and led Mrs. Divot to the shady spot under the gay awnings, "I've never fallen for the sun-tan craze, and I'm not courting a peeling nose."

* * *

"Leaping from craze to craze is our national exercise," declared Mrs. Divot. "We'll snatch desperately at anything that promises us beauty, health, youth or slenderness. And the more it makes us suffer, the more faith we have in it!"

"And HOW!" rejoined Mrs. Green. "We've seen our husbands sacrifice their beauty sleep, trying to get their daily dozen before rushing down to the office. We've listened to their matin-songs, as they shudderingly braved the nerve-wracking shock of the ice-cold shower on winter mornings.

* * *

"We've passed through the horrors of the raw-food fad, and gone about munching carrots, and uncooked prunes, when we were longing for a nice hot, juicy beefsteak with French-fried potatoes.

* * *

"We've suffered from the aching void caused by the milk diet and tortured our stomachs and nerves with the Hollywood diet. We've stuffed spinach and calves' liver and lettuce down our rebellious throats until we nearly choked. And lots of us have had most of our perfectly good teeth pulled out to cure us of hang-nails or fallen arches."

"Oh, well," said Mrs. Divot lolling back comfortably in her beachchair, "Self-torment is our favorite form of amusement. What should we do for a new life-interest if the health faddists did not find us a new way to persecute ourselves every few seasons?"

* * *

"Find one ourselves, I suppose, "suggested Mrs. Green, "Look at all those lovely tender-skinned girls lying out there on the sand courting a thick epidermis, burned backs and nose-wrinkles — and burning the hide off their vertebrae. If God had intended us to be lizards He'd have made us that way. But if some bright young medico had told them that wearing a ring in their noses would increase their circulation or reduce their hips they'd all be going around with rings in their noses!"

"Amen!" sighed Mrs. Divot, "And so would We!"

VULGARIZING LIFE

By Winifred Black

Violets, roses, gardenias and orchids for you, Miss Ada Ryan, of San Francisco, California!

Three rousing cheers for you, too, young Oakley Hunter, of the same interesting city!

So you both had the courage to stand up in meeting and tell the grown-ups what you think of them, without beating about any bush, anyhow, in any way whatsoever; thank you.

Yes, I said "Thank you"—and I meant it. The whole community owes you a vote of thanks.

It's just about time some of us careless, selfish, light-minded, silly fathers and mothers heard a few words of plain truth, and heard them from the boys and girls we don't know how to manage.

What does a flirting, smoking, drinking mother expect of her young daughter, anyhow? If mamma doesn't know enough to keep sober, what does she think her daughter will do?

I heard a woman of 40 tell a disgusting story, right in the presence of her young son and her young daughter, the other day.

The daughter? Oh, she laughed, poor little thing. What do you expect of the daughter of such a mother?

The son grew white to the lips, set his mouth in a bitter grin and got up and left the table. None of the rest of us had the courage and the decency to follow his example.

How is a young girl going to keep any ideals at all when she has a wise-cracking, worldly woman for a mother?

How can you expect a boy to grow up into a decent, self-respecting, straightforward, honest man, with any sort of respect for women when he hears his mother joke his father about being somebody's "Sweet Papa," and listens to his father's clever taunts about his mother's latest "Sweetie?"

Oh, yes, there have always been silly women and selfish men in the world, but most of them had the grace to pretend to be better than they were—for part of the time, anyhow.

In these last few years it has become the fashion to be "tough," and "wise." Any girl who dares to hold in her heart some hopeful idea of real love and honest happiness, some dream of simple romance, is nothing but a joke to the grown people who know her, and nine times out of 10 it is her own mother who had the most fun laughing at her.

Aren't you getting sick and tired of the hard-boiled person who goes to the smartest parties and entertains the smartest people, yet has inside her good-looking, marcelled head a brain that belongs down in the old Barbary Coast in its toughest days?

I am. And if I were a young girl just growing up into womanhood, or a boy trying my best to get some confused, muddled, honest sort of view of some sort of manhood, I'd rather have an old-fashioned mother in a high corset, high shoes, a high collar and a high pompadour than a well-groomed creature with the vocabulary of a street urchin, and the standards of a dance hall girl from an old '49 mining camp.

I wish a few of us had the courage to set our faces against the complete vulgarizing of life—to refuse to meet people who don't know enough to behave themselves, especially in the presence of growing boys and girls.

The theater has been dragged into the gutter. The books on our living room table smell of slime. The songs we hear over the radio sound as if they were being sung in some indescribable speakeasy by a "lady of easy virtue," as the old phrase goes.

These things perhaps have their place in life, but is that place in the lives of men and women with young, eager, hopeful, innocent boys and girls to bring up?
